Illinois Basketball

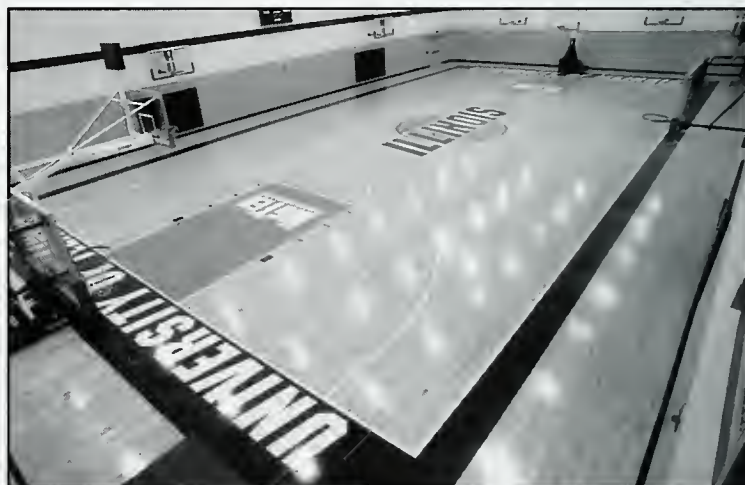

Ubben Complex

In October 1998, Illinois moved into the state-of-the-art Richard T. Ubben Basketball Complex on the campus of the University of Illinois. This $5.5 million dollar facility is a direct result of the university's commitment to excellence in athletics. It houses not only a full-sized practice court, but its features include locker rooms for the coaches and players, a players lounge, video review room, training room and weight room. The 40,000-square-foot facility is home to everything the players need to make it through the day. After classes, players can spend time studying or using the computers in the video room. The locker room has lockers for each player and is adjacent to the players' lounge and video room.

When it's time to get taped before practice, the players just walk across the hall to the fully-equipped training room which is located next to the practice court. In the area of strength and conditioning, the players have use of the weight room which has free weights, Nautilus equipment, treadmills and Stairmaster. The team utilizes both the weight room at the football stadium and at the Ubben Complex.

Assembly Hall

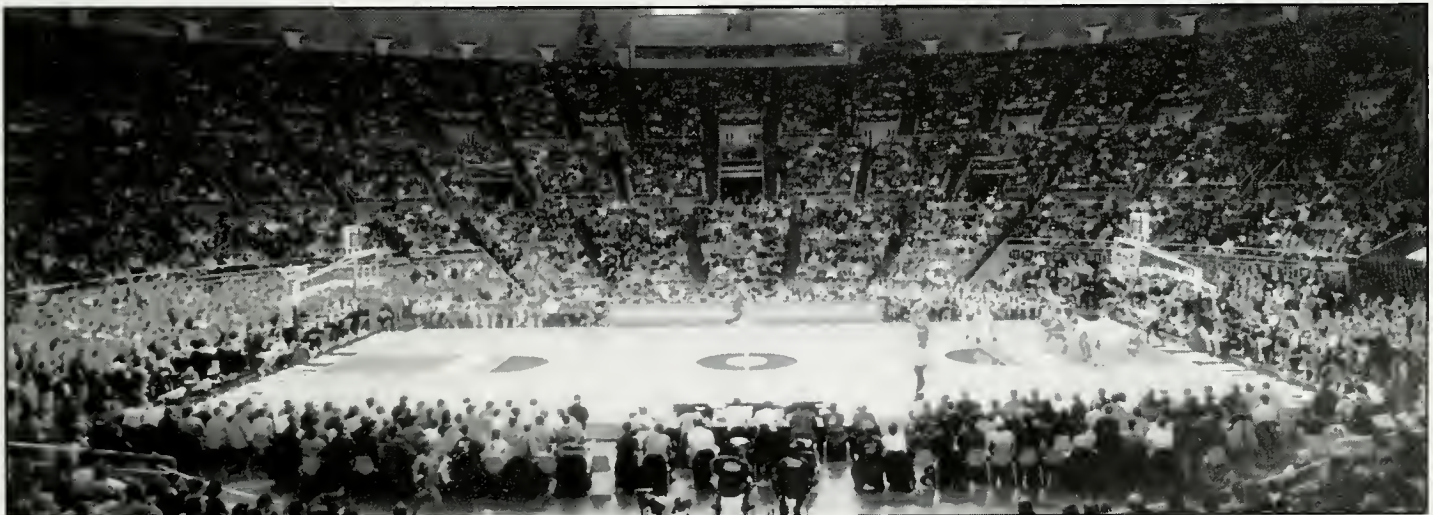

When it's time to take the game on the court, Illinois has an outstanding home in Assembly Hall. The Hall has served as home to the Fighting Illini since its construction in 1963 and in 1999 it became even better after a multi-million dollar construction project that brought the team a new locker room, state-of-the-art training room, a dining area and a new tunnel area to accommodate network television trucks and team buses.

Illinois opened play at the Assembly Hall on March 4, 1963 with a 79-73 victory over Northwestern. Since that first game, the Illini have racked up a 385-117 mark, including a 126-35 slate in the 1990s. Since 1963,

Illinois has sold out 122 games at the Assembly Hall, which seats 16,450. Illinois set an all-time attendance record on March 9, 1996 when 16,863 fans jammed into the Hall to witness Lou Henson's final regular season game as head coach. In the past four seasons, Illinois has produced a 42-12 record at home, including a 12-1 record last year.

In addition to hosting the Fighting Illini, the Assembly Hall also holds performances for Broadway musicals, concerts and other shows. This season KISS, Matchbox 20, the WWF and the Dixie Chicks are some of the scheduled performers that will take the stage at Assembly Hall.

In the fall of 1997, the Irwin Academic Center opened on the campus of the University of Illinois. Conveniently located in the center of campus, it offers the very best in academic services to Illinois student-athletes. In addition to the academic offices, it houses study areas, an expansive computer room, and meeting rooms that over 600 student-athletes use throughout the year.

The Illini basketball coaching staff places academics at the top of the list when it comes to priorities and the results are overwhelming. In the past four years, nine basketball players have earned their degree.

As part of the academic services department, the academic support staff members also coordinate programs that enhance the college experience and prepare each student-athlete for life after college. Some of the programs that are included are a workshop on alcoholism on college campuses, time management workshops and seminars on note taking skills and preparing for exams.

Illinois: A Leader in Academics

- Illinois is considered one of the finest academic institutions in the country. The 1999 U.S. News & World Report College Guide ranks Illinois as one of the top 50 national universities and among the top 10 public universities. Money magazine consistently ranks U of I as one of the best buys in higher education.

- Illinois freshmen complete their degree requirements at a significantly higher rate than the national average.

- Illinois has the world's second largest alumni base with a list of nearly 325,000 living alumni.

- U of I has awarded the most undergraduate engineering degrees of any school in the nation.

- 2000 Money magazine lists Illinois as one of the nation's best college buys.

- The 1998 U.S. News & World Report College Guide rates several of the University of Illinois curriculums in the top five nationally: College of Engineering 2nd best in the country, College of Business 5th best in the country, Accounting program 1st in the nation.

- Illinois' accounting program has ranked No. 1 in the nation for the past 18 years.

- The Dow Jones Newspaper Fund lists the U of I among an elite group of seven universities called the "journalism ivys."

- Illinois' study-abroad program offers exchanges with more than 100 foreign countries. It's the fifth largest program in the country among major universities.

- U of I's Krannert Art Museum houses the second largest art collection in the state after the Art Institute of Chicago.

- Mosaic™, the mother of all internet web browsers, was developed at Illinois' National Center for Supercomputing Applications (NCSA) in 1993.

National Exposure

Year-in and year-out, Illinois basketball is a popular choice for the television networks. This year Illinois will appear on television at least 22 times in the regular season, highlighted by 11 national appearances on CBS, ESPN and espn2. Illinois' national games include matchups against UNLV at the Maui Invitational, vs. Duke in Greensboro, N.C., against Seton Hall at Assembly Hall and home match-ups against Michigan State, Wisconsin and Ohio State.

Chicago and St. Louis, two of the largest media markets in the midwest, are located less than three hours from Champaign and the Illini are featured in the newspapers, and on television and radio in those cities. In addition the Illini are covered by newspapers, radio and television throughout the state of Illinois and across the Midwest.

Through the official Fighting Illini website, Illinois fans across the world can keep tabs on the team during the basketball season. The radio broadcast of every game is aired live over the internet and is available by accessing the www.fightingillini.com site. Additionally, fans can listen to Coach Self's weekly radio show on Monday nights from 6-7 p.m. by accessing www.fightingillini.com. Also available on the athletic website are player bios, weekly releases, recaps of each game along with a boxscore and updated team and individual stats.

The Fighting Illini are in their fourth year as honorary chairpersons for the Red Ribbon Campaign.

Hometown Heroes

The University of Illinois Hometown Heroes program offers student-athletes the opportunity to speak to young people regarding a variety of messages including goal setting, the importance of getting a good education, staying away from drugs and being a role model. Throughout the year student-athletes from all 19 Illinois' varsity sports have an opportunity to make a difference in the lives of the youth of Urbana-Champaign through the Hometown Heroes program.

Cory Bradford and Brian Cook found their way backstage to meet WWF superstar Rock this past summer. The Assembly Hall, home of the Illini, hosts a variety of concerts, plays and sporting events.

Illinois Lists

Each of the last 24 years, the Big Ten Conference has won the national attendance title for home games. In 1999-2000 the league set a new standard for conference attendance as 2,255,913 fans passed through the turnstiles (an all-time high for any conference) for a 13,428 per game average. The Illini were in the Top 25 nationally in home attendance and overall attendance.

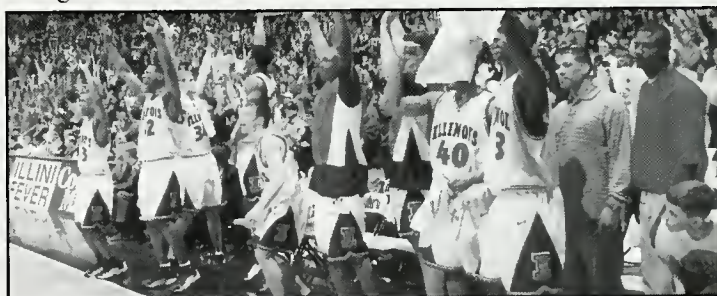

Six times the Illini have played before a crowd of over 30,000 fans. On Dec. 6, 1997 the Illinois-Saint Louis game drew a crowd of 32,429 at the TWA Dome in St. Louis. It was the largest crowd to ever watch a basketball game in the state of Missouri and it ranks as the fifth largest crowd to ever watch a Fighting Illini game.

Illinois is third among Big Ten schools in winning percentage and overall wins. The winningest team in school history was the 1989 squad which posted a record 31-5 mark. That squad was led by starters Kenny Battle, Stephen Bardo, Lowell Hamilton, Nick Anderson and Kendall Gill.

Mr. Basketball

The Fighting Illini have landed three of the state's last four Mr. Basketball honorees. Sergio McClain, the 1997 winner, started the trend when he signed with the Illini and teammate Frank Williams, the 1998 winner, followed suit. Brian Cook, the 1999 honoree from Lincoln High School, is the most recent addition to the team. Illinois is the first school to have three of the state's Mr. Basketballs on the roster at the same time.

Did you know???

...Illinois has the 19th best winningest percentage all-time (.641) among Division I schools.

...Illinois has won 1379 games all-time, which ranks 19th on the Division I list.

...Illinois ranks among the top 20 schools in the country for wins in the 1940's, 1950's, and 1980's.

...In the 1980's Illinois was the only team in the nation to be a top four seed in the NCAA Tournament seven-straight years. Illinois was a No. 1 seed in 1989, a No. 2 seed in 1984, a No. 3 seed in 1985, 1987 and 1988, and a Nov. 4 seed in 1983 and 1986.

...Illini Assistant Coach Rob Judson was an Academic All-American in 1979.

...Eight Illini players have been first-round draft selections, including current pros Nick Anderson and Kendall Gill.

...Eight Illini players have competed in the NBA finals, most recently Nick Anderson with the 1995 Orlando Magic.

...Illinois has had 51 first-team All-Big Ten selections and 23 first-team All-Americans.

Scheduling Tough Opponents

Last season, Illinois faced a challenging non-conference schedule, along with the always rigorous Big Ten grind. According to Jeff Sagarin's ratings, the Illini played the 13th toughest schedule in the nation last year.

The level of competition will be just as tough or tougher this season, with the potential to play five consensus Top-10 teams during the nonconference portion of the schedule. The nonconference slate features the Maui Invitational, which features seven teams that played in the 2000 NCAA Tournament (Arizona, Connecticut, Dayton, Illinois, Louisville, Maryland and UNLV). Other big games include Seton Hall in Champaign, Arizona at the United Center in Chicago and the annual Braggin' Rights game against Missouri in St. Louis.

Illinois in the AP Rankings

The University of Illinois has been ranked in the Associated Press Top 25 in 36 of the 51 years the poll has been in existence. That ranks 9th all-time among teams in Division I basketball.

Most Years Ranked

1.	Kentucky	49
2.	UCLA	47
3.	Indiana	45
4.	North Carolina	43
	Kansas	43
	Louisville	43
7.	Duke	39
8.	St. John's	38
9.	ILLINOIS	36
10.	North Carolina State	33

Illinois also travels to Texas and to Greensboro, N.C., for a rematch with Duke in the ACC/Big Ten Challenge.

The Big Ten schedule includes back-to-back home games against 2000 Final Four participants Michigan State and Wisconsin Feb. 6 and 13. The Big Ten Tournament is scheduled for March 8-11 at the United Center in Chicago.

In the Air

Everything the Illini do, they do in a first-class manner and that includes travel. Illinois charts flights for travel and because of traveling by commuter jet, the trip is shorter and the players miss a minimal amount of class time.

The 80's Belong to the Illini

Illinois was the 14th winningest program in the nation in the 1980's, posting a record of 233-90 (.721). Illinois enjoyed nine 20-win seasons and finished in the top four of the Big Ten eight times. The Illini also made eight NCAA tournament appearances during the decade, winning 11 tournament games. The success culminated in 1989, when the "Flyin' Illini" went 31-5, earned a No. 1 seed in the Midwest Region and advanced to the Final Four.

Fighting Illini in the Pros

Illinois has made a name for itself in the professional ranks. Sixty-one players have been drafted and 35 Illini have seen playing time in the NBA. John Kerr, Wally Osterkorn, and Steve Kuberski all earned championship rings in the league. The list of Fighting Illini who are currently in the NBA includes Nick Anderson and Kendall Gill.

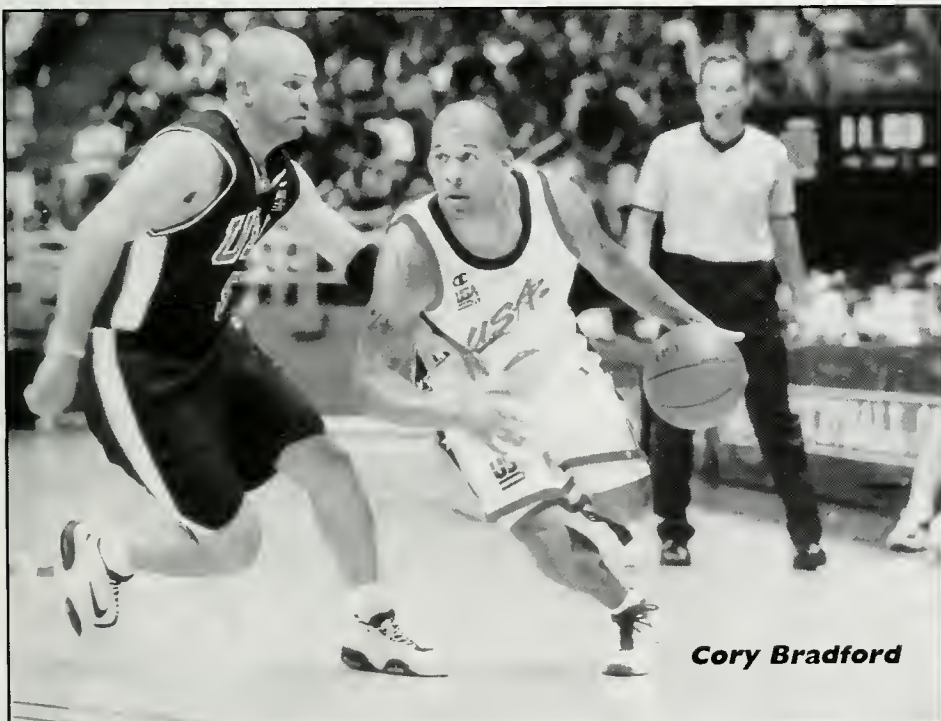

Roster has Foreign Flavor

Two current Illini are natives of foreign countries, although each of their hometowns are listed in the United States. Damir Krupalija, who hails most recently from Rockford, Ill., is from Bosnia and only moved to the states in 1995. Robert Archibald spent his senior season in the states when his father's job moved the family to the St. Louis area. Archibald is originally from Scotland.

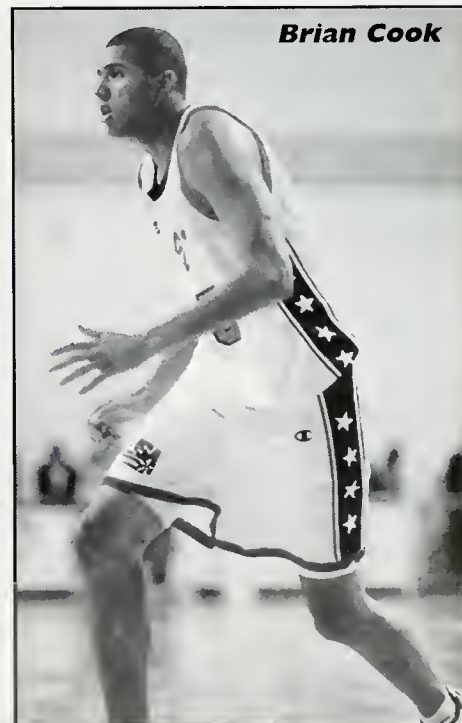

Team USA

Two members of this year's Illinois basketball team, Cory Bradford and Brian Cook, competed for USA Basketball this summer. Cook was named a member of the USA Young Men's World Championship Qualifying Team that took home a silver medal in Brazil this summer, qualifying the United States for the 2001 Young Men's World Championships.

Bradford played for the United States Select Team, a group comprised of the nation's top collegiate players who were brought together to help the United States Senior National Team tune up for the Sydney Olympics. Bradford spent one week in Hawaii playing against the NBA's finest. He scored three points and collected three rebounds in 13 minutes of action against the Olympic team.

The college experience for a student-athlete is meant to encompass everything from the educational experience inside the classroom, to the experiences associated with athletics, to the extracurricular activities. It is important to finish college as a well-rounded individual with a variety of experiences and at the University of Illinois the list of opportunities both in and out of the educational realm is endless.

HOUSING

Illinois offers first-rate residence halls with good food, as well as the nation's largest fraternity and sorority system, and independent housing options. Residence halls have 12 computer centers, accessible to residents 24 hours a day. Every University residence hall room has a computer outlet directly connected to the University's "backbone," enabling you to hook up your own computer to do your homework and class projects, and access e-mail and surf the Internet from your room. The Fighting Illini freshmen live in one of 22 residence halls on campus, while the upperclassmen share apartments off campus.

Scott Hall (above), the home to freshmen basketball players is conveniently located near the Irwin Academic Center and the Ubben Basketball Complex. The Intramural Building (right) on the UI campus.

SPORTS & RECREATION

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics fields 19 sports teams and student-athletes are very active in supporting all of the teams throughout the year. There is always an opportunity for a sporting event on campus, either on week nights or on weekends. Whether it is volleyball, football, soccer games in the fall, or going to watch the Fighting Illini women's basketball team or tennis team play, the men's basketball players have plenty of opportunity to enjoy watching their fellow student-athletes in action.

The Intramural-Physical Education Building is one of the largest complexes on any campus, with four gymnasiums, 23 handball/racquetball courts, weight and exercise equipment, indoor and outdoor pools, tennis courts and more. The UI has one of the most comprehensive intramural sports programs in the nation.

CULTURE AND ENTERTAINMENT

In addition to hosting the men's and women's basketball teams in action, the Assembly Hall has hosted concerts, circuses, ice shows, and Broadway musicals. Beautifully restored Foellinger Auditorium on the Quad also is home to concerts, films and speakers. The Krannett Center for the Performing Arts holds four theaters for plays, dance, and concerts by famed individuals and groups, such as the Chicago Symphony.

There are approximately 850 registered student organizations at the University of Illinois to meet the individual needs and desires of each student. Quad Day, during the first week of school, offers a chance for students to sample the various activities available to them through the numerous organizations on campus.

OFF CAMPUS

If your interests include activities such as movies, bowling, or golf, the Champaign-Urbana area can accommodate you. There are several movie theaters, including a 16-screen theater about five minutes from campus. The U of I Orange and Blue Golf Course is open seven days a week and is also just minutes away from campus.

Additionally, the Champaign-Urbana community offers a large number and variety of restaurant choices. With a population of 110,000 the area houses plenty of shopping opportunities and other big-city amenities while still retaining a Midwestern college-town atmosphere.

AFRICAN AMERICAN CULTURAL PROGRAM

Founded in 1969, the African American Cultural Program provides a support system for students by advising, counseling, and offering programs that have an appeal to the students as well as the entire community. Some of the program efforts include recognition of Martin Luther King Holiday, Black History Month, Mom's Day programming and the Black Congratulatory program. The African American Cultural Center is located on the University of Illinois campus and hosts activities on a regular basis. Student workshops revolving around the cultural arts are in place throughout the school year and some are offered for course credit.

The University

Since its founding in 1867, the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign has earned a reputation of international stature. Its distinguished faculty, outstanding resources, breadth of academic programs and research disciplines, and talented and diverse student body constitute an educational community ideally suited for teaching and research. Located in east central Illinois in the twin cities of Urbana and Champaign (population 110,000), the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign is the state's flagship public university.

STUDENTS

The University has a fundamental commitment to undergraduate education. More than 26,000 undergraduate students are enrolled in nine undergraduate divisions, which together offer some 4,000 courses in more than 150 fields of study.

The divisions are: the College of Agricultural, Consumer and Environmental Sciences; College of Applied Life Studies; College of Communications; College of Commerce and Business Administration; College of Education; College of Engineering; College of Fine and Applied Arts; College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the Institute of Aviation.

Undergraduate admission is highly selective. In a recent freshman class, the average student was in the top 10 percent of his or her high school graduating class and scored in the top 10 percent of those taking the national college entrance examination. Approximately 9,000 graduate and professional students are enrolled in more than 100 disciplines. Many of these programs rank in the top 10 in the country, making Illinois among the nation's top 20 universities that grant doctoral degrees, according to the National Research Council.

WORLD-CLASS FACULTY

Many faculty have been recognized for exceptional scholarship with memberships in the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the National Academy of Sciences, and the National Academy of

The Illini Union, located at the north end of the Quad.

Engineering; with the National Medal of Science; as National Science Foundation Young Investigators; and by such organizations as the National Endowment for the Humanities, Guggenheim Memorial Foundation, National Academy of Education, and the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation. At Illinois, research has a home in libraries, laboratories and classrooms, where it provides a real-life context for teaching and learning.

COMPUTING

A leader in supercomputing applications, the University is home of NCSA (National Center for Supercomputing Applications) where Mosaic web browsing software was first developed. Since first released in 1993, Mosaic has spawned exponential growth in the use of the World Wide Web. NCSA staff have also been instrumental in promoting World Wide Web access at the White House and in the city of Chicago. There are 23,000 network connections on campus for students, faculty and staff.

RESEARCH

Students and scholars find the University an ideal place to conduct cross-disciplinary research. The most visible example of the University's commitment to such study is the Beckman Institute for Advanced Science and Technology, where research groups from nearly two dozen disciplines work within and across the following three main research themes: biological intelligence, human-computer intelligent interaction and molecular and electronic nanostructures. The special atmosphere at the Beckman Institute made possible the collaboration between two researchers that led to the invention of a technique to extend by a factor of 50 the life of silicon chips, a development that has caught the interest of the world's major chip manufacturers.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

Academic resources on the campus are among the world's finest. The University Library is the third largest academic collection in the nation, housing more than 15.9 million items in the main library and in the more than 40 departmental libraries and units. Only Harvard and Yale have larger collections. The library's computerized cataloging system was the first in the world to serve as the primary access to a large academic library. Users have worldwide access to the collections through the Internet, with more than a million patrons logging on each week.

THE ARTS

A major center for the arts, the campus attracts dozens of nationally and internationally renowned artists each year to its widely acclaimed Krannert Center for the Performing Arts. Designed by alumnus Max Abramovitz, an architect of New York City's Lincoln Center, the facility has four indoor theaters and an outdoor amphitheater. Together, they host more than 300 performances each year. The University also supports three major museums: the Krannert Art Museum and Kinkead Pavilion, the World Heritage Museum and the Museum of Natural History. Other major facilities include the multipurpose Assembly Hall (16,000 seats), which hosts concerts, convocations, theater and sporting events.

PARTNERSHIP ILLINOIS

Also integral to the University's mission is a commitment to partnerships with many sectors of Illinois business and industry. Each year more than 60,000 Illinois residents participate in scores of conferences, institutes, credit and non-credit courses and workshops presented on campus and statewide. University-sponsored programs in both urban and rural areas of the state bring University faculty to the citizens of Illinois to share their expertise in food industries, health, K-12 education, technology transfer and economic development, to name a few. Cooperative Extension Service offices throughout Illinois serve nearly one million people annually. The Institute for Competitive Manufacturing has succeeded in solving business and manufacturing problems in hundreds of Illinois firms by matching student project teams with businesses in need.

OUR GRADUATES SUCCEED

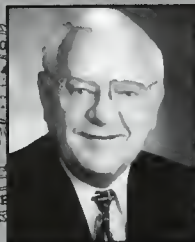

Freshman retention and overall graduation rates are well above the national averages. Typically, approximately 90 percent of freshmen return for their sophomore year. The graduation rate for students who enter the university on a full-time basis is approximately 80 percent. The national average for four-year schools is approximately 50 percent. Each year, more than 400 graduates are accepted to law school. Medical school admissions are also impressive with more than 200 students admitted each year.

The Board of Trustees of the University of Illinois exercises final authority over the policies and governance of all three campuses of the University (Chicago, Springfield, Urbana-Champaign), within limits fixed by the Illinois Constitution and state law.

Legislation approved by the General Assembly, signed by the governor and tested in court has changed trustee selection. In 1996, the governor began appointing new trustees, as terms expired. Until the law changed, trustees had been elected by the people of Illinois in November general elections.

As before, there are nine trustees. Each serves for six years. Their terms are staggered, with three expiring every two years. All trustees serve without pay. The governor is also an ex officio member of the board, with a vote.

In addition, three students, one each from the campuses of Chicago, Springfield and Urbana-Champaign, serve single-year terms on the board.

Trustees elect their own chair annually, in January, from among the nine members. The 2000 chair is William D. Engelbrecht.

PRESIDENT JAMES J. STUKEL

President James J. Stukel begins his sixth year as chief executive officer of the University of Illinois. Since becoming the University's 15th CEO, Stukel has taken his four-point plan to thousands of Illinois citizens, including alumni and friends of the University, through community visits and special events in Illinois and several states.

The first point of the Stukel plan is to strengthen the connections between the University and the people of Illinois, in a redefinition of the UI's traditional land-grant obligations. The second is to upgrade students' educational experience through smaller classes and best use of the educational technology. Third is to cut costs where possible, stress productivity and create a positive, business-like administration that reassures taxpayers, tuition-payers and private donors that their money is being used efficiently. And fourth is to maintain the highest quality in a niche filled by relatively few U.S. Universities – basic and applied research.

For four years before becoming president, Stukel served as chancellor and chief executive officer of the University of Illinois at Chicago, leading UIC into the first rank of research universities.

Stukel has been part of the University of Illinois family since enrolling in graduate school in 1962. He spent 23 years on the Urbana-Champaign campus as an administrator, engineering professor and researcher. He then moved to UIC, spending one year as vice chancellor for research and five years as executive vice chancellor and vice chancellor for academic affairs before assuming the chancellor position in Chicago.

Born March 30, 1937, Stukel earned his B.S. in mechanical engineering from Purdue University in 1959 and spent two years as a research engineer for the Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. In 1962, Stukel enrolled in graduate school at Illinois, earning his M.S. in mechanical engineering in 1963 and his Ph.D. in mechanical engineering in 1968.

He became assistant professor of environmental engineering and mechanical engineering at Illinois in 1968, associate professor in 1971 and full professor in 1975.

Stukel is a member of the Kellogg Commission on the Future of State and Land-Grant Institutions, as well as a member of the board and co-chair of the Council of Governmental Affairs at the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges. He also is on the executive committee of the Illinois Coalition and is a governing board member of the Illinois Council on Economic Education. In May 1997, he received an honorary doctor of engineering degree from Purdue University.

Stukel and his wife, the former M. Joan Helpling, have four children and three grandchildren.

CHANCELLOR MICHAEL AIKEN

When Michael Aiken joined the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign in 1993, he brought with him more than 30 years of scholarly and administrative experience. Aiken is an internationally recognized sociologist who has specialized in the analysis of organizations and issues of community power and social change.

As the sixth chancellor of the campus, Aiken has emphasized undergraduate education as well as research and public service. Programs designed to ensure the success of new students include the Freshman Convocation ceremony, which welcomes new students to campus and shares with them the rich traditions of the university, and the Discovery program, which gives new students at Urbana-Champaign the opportunity to study with a senior faculty member in a classroom setting of 20 or fewer students.

Under Aiken's leadership, the Urbana-Champaign campus has launched Partnership Illinois, an effort to catalog, coordinate and promote outreach efforts of the Urbana campus. As a land-grant institution, the university makes a vital contribution to the quality of life of the people of Illinois by providing a wide variety of services in partnership with them. PI enhances the campus's ability to bring faculty expertise to bear on the educational, technological, economic, social and cultural challenges facing Illinois and the broader society.

These and other new programs were outlined in "A Framework for the Future," the strategic planning document completed in May 1995.

Before coming to Illinois, Aiken served as provost of the University of Pennsylvania, where he also had been a faculty member in the department of sociology, chairman of sociology and dean of the School of Arts and Sciences.

Aiken's career has included academic posts at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, Columbia University, Washington University in St. Louis and two Belgian universities, the Katholieke Universiteit Leuven and the Universit e Catholique de Louvain.

Aiken graduated from the University of Mississippi in 1954 and earned his master's degree in 1955. He received a doctorate in sociology in 1964 from the University of Michigan.

An avid Fighting Illini fan, Chancellor Aiken attends sporting events on campus and follows Illinois athletic teams on the road as well.

Aiken is married to Catherine Comet, an internationally acclaimed orchestral conductor. They have one daughter, Caroline.

Aiken announced his plans to retire at the end of the 2000-01 school year.

DIVISION OF INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics (DIA) was chartered in 1892 as a not-for-profit corporation of the State of Illinois. It was charged with overseeing and conducting the University's intercollegiate athletic programs and associated support services, and operated as a separate entity.

After the state legislature voted in June 1989 to bring UI athletics within the University proper, the DIA assumed the functions and responsibilities of the Athletic Association. The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics began operations officially July 1, 1989, and now, more than a century after University of Illinois athletics began, the mission is still to achieve excellence both in the classroom and in sport competition.

The director of athletics is the division's chief executive officer, and reports directly to the chancellor of the Urbana-Champaign campus. The chancellor has final authority regarding the athletic program in all areas except for budget and major appointments. Those decisions rest with the University of Illinois Board of Trustees.

The Athletic Board serves the DIA in an advisory capacity. It is composed of 18 members, (nine faculty, five alumni, three students and one trustee); and the three non-voting (ex-officio) members from the University administration.

The faculty and student members are nominated by the Urbana-Champaign Senate and selected by the chancellor.

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics does not receive state tax dollars and over the years has been able to fully fund the NCAA maximum allowable number of athletic scholarships for student-athletes in each of its sports programs, as well as to hire excellent coaches and maintain and upgrade its facilities, staying on par with the best major collegiate programs across the nation.

This has been accomplished through revenues derived from four major sources: gate receipts from football and men's basketball; television and radio rights fees for those two sports; corporate sponsorships and donations to the Fighting Illini Scholarship Fund. The FISF contributions provide the maximum allowable number of scholarships in the 19 men's and women's sports at an average annual cost of approximately $10,000 for in-state student-athletes and about $15,000 for those from outside Illinois.

Facilities

The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics utilizes and maintains 12 facilities for competition and the administration of 19 sports. The facilities include Memorial Stadium, Assembly Hall, Huff Hall, Illinois Field, the Outdoor Track and Field and Soccer Stadium, the Armory, Atkins Tennis Center, the Intramural and Physical Education Building, Kenney Gym, the University of

The Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building opened in 1996.

Illinois Orange and Blue Golf Courses, the Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building, the Ubben Basketball Practice Facility and the Irwin Academic Center.

The latest facility added to the list is a $12.5 million indoor football practice facility, located just east of the current Ubben Football Complex and locker room. The football practice field will open directly onto the East Outdoor Practice Field and is scheduled for completion for spring practice in 2001.

In 1996, more than 100 members of the DIA staff moved into the Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building, located on the east-west axis between the Atkins Tennis Center and the Assembly Hall. The facility houses DIA coaches, administration and staff, including the Fighting Illini Scholarship Fund, the Varsity "I" Association, accounting and personnel, athletic public relations and marketing and compliance.

A "Park of Tradition" commemorating the history of Fighting Illini athletics is planned adjacent to the Bielfeldt Building, along with the opening of the Illinois Hall of Fame. The Ubben Basketball Practice Facility opened in the fall of 1998 and features practice courts for men's and women's basketball, offices and meeting rooms, training and equipment facilities, strength and conditioning and locker rooms.

In 1992, the DIA completed an $18 million renovation project on Memorial Stadium, replacing the main and balcony stands on the east and west sides of the Stadium.

It has been a busy two decades for facility construction at Illinois as the Atkins Tennis Center opened in 1991, featuring six indoor and eight outdoor lighted courts, along with a pro shop and balcony viewing areas. The Atkins Tennis Center has hosted the Big Ten Championships, the NCAA

The Irwin Academic Center features academic services offices, study areas, an expansive computer room and meeting rooms for more than 600 UI student-athletes.

Regionals and numerous professional tournaments and is also a resource for the entire Champaign-Urbana tennis community. Fighting Illini men's and women's tennis have risen to the top of the Big Ten Conference with the men's squad having won the last four Big Ten Championships.

Illinois Field, the home of the 2000 Big Ten Tournament champion Illini baseball squad, and the Outdoor Track Stadium have also seen construction upgrades, adding lights to both facilities and expanding the track stadium to accommodate Illinois women's soccer matches. The Outdoor Track and Soccer Stadium also includes future plans for seating for 8,000 and a permanent press box.

Currently under construction is Eichelberger Field, the future home of Illinois softball. Scheduled for completion in the spring of 2001, the field will play host to Illinois' newest sport starting with its inaugural home game this coming season.

Three years ago, the Irwin Academic Center opened on campus, providing UI student-athletes with state-of-the-art computer study areas, quiet rooms, conference rooms, career planning and placement and other academic programs all under one roof.

The Irwin Academic Center is utilized by nearly 600 student-athletes on an annual basis.

The Illini men's and women's basketball squads compete in the Assembly Hall, billed for many years as college basketball's finest arena. During the past two years, the Assembly Hall has undergone more than $11 million in facility upgrades, including new locker rooms, training rooms, meeting and dining areas, storage and other improvements designed to showcase Illinois basketball.

Huff Hall, the home for Illinois men's basketball and the famed IHSA "March Madness" state basketball tournament from 1925-63, has undergone nearly $1 million in construction since 1990 and is the home for Illini volleyball, wrestling and gymnastics.

Future construction plans include a new playing surface at Memorial Stadium and renovations and expansion of the Irwin Football Complex and a multi-purpose indoor sport facility adjacent to the Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building.

In eight years as Director of Athletics at the University of Illinois, Ron Guenther has returned his alma mater to the national elite in competing for championships in 19 intercollegiate sports with outstanding coaches, staff and facilities. The MVP of the 1966 Illinois football squad, Guenther continues to move the Illini athletic program on a breakneck pace toward a position of competing at a championship level in all programs.

In the last four years, Guenther, 54, has overseen a series of dramatic changes that have local, regional and national media, alumni and fans marveling at Guenther's abilities to add sport programs in women's soccer and softball, recruit top-level coaches, plan for and build championship facilities with more than $ 50 million in capital donations and create a model program producing outstanding student-athletes. In the last four years, Guenther has established Illinois as a rising power among NCAA institutions by:

- Beginning construction on the $12.5 million state-of-the-art Irwin Indoor Football Practice Facility, to be completed in the fall of 2000.
- Overseeing the construction of the Richard T. Ubben Basketball Practice Facility for the Illini men's and women's basketball programs.
- Adding women's soccer in 1997, the first UI athletic program added in two decades.
- Meeting the needs of high school athletes in the state of Illinois by adding popular women's softball as the 19th varsity sport in time for the spring, 2000 season.
- Hiring championship-level coaches such as football's Ron Turner, soccer's Tricia Taliaferro, softball's Terri Sullivan and swimming and diving's Sue Novitsky. In his eight years as director, Guenther has also landed nationally recognized men's tennis coach Craig Tiley, who led the Illini to their first Big Ten title since 1946, extended the contract of baseball's Itch Jones, who has won two Big Ten Championships and advanced to the NCAA Regionals two of the past three years and hired Sujay Lama, who has had the Illini in the NCAA women's tennis tournament the past two years.
- Signing an exclusive $7.5 million agreement with Nike as one of only 13 Nike institutions in the United States.

- Christening the $7.2 million Bielfeldt Athletic Administration Building.
- Overseeing the construction and opening of the $2.1 million Irwin Academic Center, providing 600 student-athletes with a state-of-the-art, convenient academic center to reach their full potential as students.

"Guenther has the school on track to realize the expectations of unbridled athletic success, achieved the right way,"

-- Chicago Sun Times, March 9, 1997

Under Guenther's leadership, Illinois has steadily improved its performance on the field and in the classroom. In the last four years, Illinois has won four-straight Big Ten titles in men's tennis, along with the 1998 Big Ten baseball championship and the Big Ten Baseball Tournament championship in 2000, captured the 1998 Big Ten men's basketball championship and won the 1997 Big Ten women's basketball title, earning consecutive NCAA "Sweet 16" appearances. Off the field, Illinois student-athletes have continued to benefit from outstanding academic services programs, matching the overall campus grade point average and producing over 100 Academic All-Big Ten award winners annually in all sports.

Guenther has also spearheaded a revolution for funding for championship-level programs and facilities as the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics has opened necessary additional revenue streams totaling more than $3 million through working partnerships with corporate sponsors and management of the Illini Sports Radio Network.

Guenther's aggressive plan to make the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics a valuable and enthusiastic partner in the overall education, research and service mission of the University has begun to pay dividends heading into the 21st century.

Now in his fourth decade with the University of Illinois, Guenther was the Most Valuable Player on the 1966 Illinois football squad under head coach Pete Elliott. Guenther was a second-team All-Big Ten selection at offensive guard, also earning first-team Academic All-Big Ten honors and recognition as the University's outstanding senior in physical education.

Guenther earned his bachelor of science degree in physical education from Illinois in 1967 and an M.S. in administration in 1968 before embarking on a successful career in coaching, athletic administration and business.

Guenther was named the 17th Director of Athletics in 1992 after serving for two years with the University of Illinois Foundation as Director of Major Gifts and for three years as a partner with The Barofsky Association, a Chicago-area investments and marketing firm.

From June of 1988 to March of 1989, Guenther served as Interim Director of Athletics for External Operations, administering the development program, public relations, promotions, tickets, merchandise and summer camps.

Guenther spent the previous three years within the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics as associate athletic director for development, coordinating the "Campaign for Excellence in Athletics." That campaign began the first major facelift of athletic facilities in nearly 60 years on campus and provided the impetus for the eventual construction of Illinois Field for baseball, the UI Outdoor Track and Field Stadium, the Atkins Tennis Center and the Irwin Football Complex, housing coaches offices, locker rooms, sports medicine, strength and conditioning facilities and meeting rooms for Illinois football.

One of the nation's top athletic fund raisers, Guenther has been instrumental in soliciting gift commitments totaling more than $50 million toward capital improvements at Illinois during the last 15 years.

Firmly committed to delivering the Illinois message across the state and Midwest, Guenther served from 1983 to 1985 as assistant athletic director for Chicago operations, renewing a commitment that continues today to reach out to the thousands of Chicago-area alumni, donors and fans. During his tenure in Chicago, Guenther created the annual statewide caravan for promotion and public relations and saw a tripling in the number of donors to Illinois athletics.

Guenther spent eight years at North Central College in Naperville, Ill., including a stint from 1975-79 as director of admissions and also as an associate head football coach. From 1979-83, he served as the vice president of development and public affairs at North Central, helping to design and implement a $15 million Capital Campaign. As associate head football coach, Guenther helped the Cardinals amass a 23-12-2 record, including the school's first winning season in 15 years.

Before moving to North Central College, Guenther was offensive line coach at Boston College from 1971-74, helping to develop nine National Football League players.

From 1968-71, Guenther was a teacher and coached football, wrestling and track and field for the Evanston Township and Glenbard High School systems in suburban Chicago.

Born Oct. 3, 1945, Guenther is a native of Evanston and a graduate of York High School. He lettered at Illinois in 1965 and 1966, helping Illinois to a 24-14-1 record in his four seasons. Guenther earned MVP honors on a squad that produced five All-Americans in 1966.

BASEBALL

- Illinois won the 2000 Big Ten Conference Tournament, doing so with five complete games in five games from the pitching staff to pick up its first tournament crown since 1990. Illinois has now advanced to the last five Big Ten Tournaments, the longest current streak of any team in the Big Ten. By winning the tournament Illinois earned its second NCAA Tournament bid in three years.
- Illinois ace Jason Anderson was named the UI Athlete of the Year, a first-team All-American, the Big Ten Pitcher of the Year and the Most Outstanding Athlete of the Big Ten Tournament.
- Freshman Andy Schutzenhofer, the first-team All-Big Ten first baseman, was named a freshman All-American by both Baseball America and Collegiate Baseball after breaking Illinois freshman records in both season hits and RBI.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

- Illinois went 22-10, posting its third 20+ win season in four years under Lon Kruger and advanced to the NCAA Tournament.
- The Fighting Illini advanced to the Big Ten Tournament championship game for the second consecutive season.
- Sophomore Cory Bradford was named second team All-Big Ten by the coaches and media, and was named team MVP for the second straight season.
- Freshman Brian Cook earned Co-Big Ten Freshman of the Year honors by the conference coaches after showing solid progress throughout the year and stepping up during the Big Ten season averaging 9.0 points and 4.5 rebounds per game.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

- Earned its fourth consecutive NCAA Tournament bid, and won its opening tournament game for the fourth year in a row.
- Defeated two national Top-5 teams, Georgia and Notre Dame.
- Tauja Catchings received honorable mention All-America accolades, and was the first Illinois player ever to be drafted by the WNBA.
- Had two players named first team All-Big Ten for the first time in the history of the program (Tauja Catchings and Allison Curtin).
- Surpassed the 100,000 mark in season home attendance for the first time ever.

MEN'S CROSS COUNTRY

- Illinois finished fourth out of 20 teams in the NCAA Region Five Championships at the UI Golf Course in Savoy with 155 points.
- Illinois had two runners earn All-Region honors: senior Scott

McClennan, who finished 14th with a time of 31:17, and junior Mike Lucchesi, who was 16th with a time of 31:26.

- Had six athletes named to the Academic All-Big Ten team, led by McClennan, who was also named to the Fall/Winter GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-District V Team.

WOMEN'S CROSS COUNTRY

- Senior Tara Mendoza was Illinois' top runner for the second straight season, placing first among UI runners in four of the five races in which she competed, including the Big Ten and the NCAA Region Five Championships, where the Illini finished 13th.
- Illinois welcomed a talented trio of freshmen in the fall, who all ran consistently among the Illini's scoring five: Cecelia Williams, Amber Hunt, and Lyndsey Dunnavan.
- Had five athletes named to the Academic All-Big Ten team.

FOOTBALL

- Illinois represented one of the best turn-arounds in college football history, jumping 76 places from its 91st ranking in the final 1998 Sagarin ratings to its 15th spot at the end of the 1999 season; the rating took into account the UI schedule, judged to be the 18th toughest in the nation.
- The Fighting Illini posted a 5-1 road record, including the 35-29 win at No. 9 Michigan and the 46-20 victory at No. 25 Ohio State; those two triumphs marked the first time ever that Illinois has won at Ann Arbor and Columbus in the same season; the 20-point comeback against the Wolverines is the largest ever for the Illini and the 26-point margin against the Buckeyes was OSU's most decisive home loss since 1946.
- With its nine touchdown, 611-yard performance in a 63-21 win over Virginia, Illinois shattered a total of 22 UI and MicronPC.com Bowl records, including most points, most offensive yards, most touchdowns and fewest punts; the 63 points were the second-most ever scored in a college football bowl game.

MEN'S GOLF

- Freshman Geoff Lound shot a 2-under par 69 and a 1-under 70 en route to a tie for second place at the Marshall Invitational in early April; it was the highest finish of the Australian's career at Illinois.

WOMEN'S GOLF

- The Illini had two consecutive fifth-place finishes during their spring break trip to Florida; they also took fourth in the annual Illini Spring Classic at the Stone Creek Golf Club in April.
- Freshman Laurin Kanda has led the Illini throughout the 1999-2000 season; she has had five top-five finishes this season, including a tie for second place at the Wolverine Invitational in October.

MEN'S GYMNASTICS

- The 2000 squad placed eighth at the NCAA Championships and third in the Big Ten.
- Senior Travis Romagnoli earned his eighth and ninth career All-America honors by finishing fourth in the all-around and second on high bar.
- Junior Leo Oka placed sixth in the all-around at the NCAA Championships for his first All-American award; it is the first time since 1955 that two Illini gymnasts have been all-around All-Americans in the same season.

WOMEN'S GYMNASTICS

- The Fighting Illini finished 7-10 and 2-2 in the Big Ten under first-year head coach Bob Starkell.
- Junior Phaedra Dixon set a school record on the floor exercise with a score of 9.950.

- Four Illini qualified individually for the NCAA Region 3 meet—Phaedra Dixon and Karen Hawley competed in the all-around, Carissa Ericson on floor exercise and Jana Gallagher on balance beam.

SOCCER

- Illinois advanced to its first-ever Big Ten Tournament semifinal.
- Soccer was ranked as high as 15th nationally in just its third season of existence.
- Defeated its first ranked opponent, No. 12 Wisconsin.
- Emily Brown earned first team All-Big Ten honors, first team All-Great Lakes Region, and third team All-America honors.

SOFTBALL

- Illinois' inaugural softball team posted a 13-17 (near .500) record, despite playing all of its games on the road with entirely non-scholarship players.
- Broke ground April 15 for its home park, the $2.1 million, state-of-the-art Eichelberger Field, which will seat 1,500 fans. The park is scheduled to be completed in time for the spring, 2001 schedule.

SWIMMING & DIVING

- Sophomore Jessica Aveyard became Illinois' first All-American with a sixth-place finish in the 200-yard backstroke at the NCAA Championships; she also became the Illini's first automatic qualifier for the NCAA Championships after setting the school record in that event with a time of 1:57.90; it was the sixth straight year head coach Jim Lutz sent an Illini to the national championships.
- Six UI swimmers have qualified for the 2000 Summer Olympic Trials, including Aveyard and seniors Natasha Messmer and Emily Wang, juniors Darcy Adler and Christiansen and sophomore Kathy Kiely.

MEN'S TENNIS

- Illinois won its fourth-consecutive Big Ten Championship and qualified for the NCAA Championships.
- Illinois advanced to the Elite Eight at the NCAA Championships for the second-straight year.
- Sophomore Royce Ramey reached semifinals of Big Ten Singles Championships.
- At the Rolex Indoor Championships, Laski and Parker defeated No. 2 team in the nation.
- The Fighting Illini defeated the defending national champions at the National Indoor Championships.

WOMEN'S TENNIS

- Played the toughest non-conference slate in the country; played nearly two months on the road, taking on No. 2 Florida, No. 7's Duke and UCLA, No. 8 USC, No. 14 Tennessee and No. 17 Notre Dame.
- Finished with an overall record of 13-12 and finished second in the Big Ten under second year head coach Sujay Lama.
- Advanced to the NCAA Tournament where the team fell to Florida State in the first round.

MEN'S TRACK & FIELD

- Illinois finished second at the Big Ten Indoor Championships with 82.5 points.
- Junior Sherman Armstrong earned a pair of All-America indoor honors, finishing eighth in country in the 400-meter dash (46.66) and was the anchor of Illinois' 4x400 meter relay team that finished seventh in the nation.

- Armstrong has broken two of his own Illinois school records this season: the indoor 60-meter hurdle mark with a time of 7.82 and the outdoor 400-meter hurdle record with a time of 49.81.
- Armstrong finished third in the 400-meter hurdles at the NCAA outdoor meet after capturing the Big Ten title in that event.

WOMEN'S TRACK & FIELD

- Kerry Ann Richards won the Big Ten 60-meter dash title with a time of 7.35; in the preliminaries, Richards broke the Big Ten meet record with a personal best time of 7.33, the third-fastest time in Illinois school history.
- Senior Tara Mendoza earned All-America honors by placing fifth nationally in the mile run at the NCAA Indoor Championships.
- Along with Richards in the 60-meter dash, Illinois' 4x400-meter relay squad (senior Lyria Martin, sophomore Chequetta Bearfield, freshman Emma Ania, and junior Aleisha Latimer) also won a Big Ten indoor title with a time of 3:43.18.

VOLLEYBALL

- The Illini finished with an overall record of 17-11, good for fourth place in the Big Ten, and earned a trip to the NCAA Tournament for the second consecutive year, winning its first round match and nearly pulling off an upset of fourth-ranked Florida.
- Senior setter Melissa Beitz broke the Illinois all-time career assists record, finishing with 5,797, breaking Disa Johnson's record of 5,550 (Beitz broke the record despite playing 27 fewer matches than Johnson).
- Junior middle blocker Betsy Spicer led the team in hitting percentage (.333) and was named to the All-Big Ten and AVCA All-District 2 teams.

The men's tennis team won its fourth-consecutive Big Ten Championship in 2000.

WRESTLING

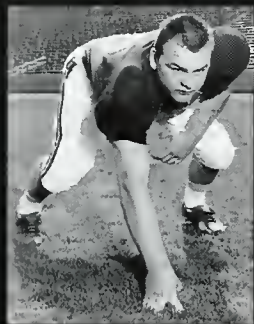

- Illinois crowned four All-Americans. Carl Perry claimed the 141-pound national title, becoming the Illini's 15th all-time national champion. Adam Tirapelle (2nd), John Lockhart (7th) and Pat Quirk (8th) also claimed All-America honors.
- The Illini placed sixth at the NCAA Championships, which marks their best finish under head coach Mark Johnson; the finish is Illinois' best since 1958 (42 years).
- With this year's Top-10 national team finish, the Fighting Illini move into an eighth-place tie with Michigan State for all-time Top 10 team finishes with 24; Oklahoma State leads the list with 69.

One of the most dramatic and dignified traditions in college athletics is the performance of Chief Illiniwek at the University of Illinois. Since 1926, this symbol has stirred pride and respect in audiences at Memorial Stadium, the Assembly Hall and Huff Hall.

Illiniwek (pronounced "ill-EYE-nih-wek") was the name of the loose confederation of Algonquin tribes that once lived in the region. The French changed the ending to "ois" in naming what became the state of Illinois. Illiniwek means "they are men" and former Illinois football coach Robert Zuppke is believed to have suggested calling the UI symbol Chief Illiniwek.

In 1926, Assistant Band Director Ray Dvorak conceived the idea of performing an American Indian dance during halftime of the Illinois vs. Pennsylvania football game in Philadelphia. Lester Leutwiler, a student interested in Indian lore, was chosen for the role. Leutwiler's performance, done in a homemade costume, was received so well that he was asked to continue his dance through the 1928 season.

Webber Borchers, the second

Chief Illiniwek, was the first to appear in authentic American Indian regalia. He initiated a campaign to raise money to replace his homemade outfit with an authentic one, but with the Depression on, he received just $15 dollars. However, a Champaign merchant stepped in to fund the rest and Borchers was off.

He recalled: "In the summer of 1930, I went, at my own expense, to the Pine Ridge reservation in South Dakota. I hitchhiked out, called an Indian agent and explained my mission. He and an Indian trader called in an older Sioux woman. She and two younger women made the suit."

On Nov. 8, 1930, in New York's Yankee Stadium, Illinois faced Army in the seventh game of the season. It was there that Borchers made the first appearance of Chief Illiniwek in that outfit. Since then, five different authentic outfits have been used by Chief Illiniwek. The one used in performances now was purchased in 1983 from Sioux Chief Frank Fools Crow, and is topped by a headdress of turkey feathers.

Holding the role of Chief Illiniwek is John Madigan, a speech communications major from Philo, Ill.

Illinois Loyalty

We're loyal to you Illinois
We're "Orange and Blue," Illinois
We'll back you to stand
'gainst the best in the land
For we know you have sand,
Illinois
Rah! Rah!
So crack out the ball Illinois
We're backing you all Illinois
Our team is the fame protector;
On boys, for we expect a
Victory from you Illinois
Chehee, Cheha, Cheha-ha-ha
Go Illini Go
Illinois, Illinois, Illinois
Fling out that dear old flag of Orange and Blue
Lead on your sons and daughters,
Fighting for you;
Like men of old, on giants
Placing reliance, shouting defiance
Oskee-wow-wow!
Amid the broad green plains
That nourish our land,
For honest labor and for learning we stand,
And unto thee we pledge our heart and hand,
Dear Alma Mater, Illinois

Oskee-Wow-Wow

Old Princeton yells her tiger
Wisconsin her varsity
And they give the same old Rah!
Rah! Rah!
At each university
But the yell that always thrills me,
And fills my heart with joy,
Is the good old Oskee-wow-wow,
That they yell at Illinois
Chorus
Oskee-wow-wow, Illinois
Our eyes are all on you
Oskee-wow-wow, Illinois
Wave your Orange and Blue, Rah! Rah!
When your team trots out before you
Ev'ry man stand up and yell
Back the team to gain a victory
Oskee-wow-wow, Illinois

March of the Illini

We are marching for dear old Illini
For the men who are fighting for you
Here's a cheer for our dear Alma Mater may our love for her ever be true
While we're marching along life's pathways,
May the Spirit of old Illinois
Keep us marching and singing
In true Illini spirit
For our dear old Illinois

Hail to the Orange

Hail to the Orange.
Hail to the Blue.
Hail Alma Mater,
Ever so true.
We love no other, So let our motto be Victory, Illinois, Varsity.

"I told our players we are going to go out and get someone special, someone to continue what we've built, and the objective here is to chase a Big Ten title. There's no question that we found that guy in Bill Self."

—Ron Guenther

On June 9, Illinois tabbed Bill Self as the 15th head coach of the Fighting Illini basketball program. In doing so, UI Athletics Director Ron Guenther hired perhaps the hottest young coach in the nation.

In his seven seasons as a head coach, Self has built a reputation as one of the nation's finest young coaches. He coached the last three seasons at Tulsa, where he led the Golden Hurricane to the NCAA Tournament each of the last two years, including a 32-5 record and Elite Eight appearance in 2000, setting a school record for victories in a season.

Self begins his Illinois career with a 130-80 (.619) mark following four seasons at Oral Roberts (56-53) and three at Tulsa (74-27). He replaced Lon Kruger, who left Illinois after being named head coach of the NBA's Atlanta Hawks in May.

During the 2000 NCAA Tournament run, the Golden Hurricane defeated UNLV, Cincinnati and Miami before narrowly losing to North Carolina in the regional final. The Hurricane completed the season ranked ninth in the USA Today/ESPN Coaches poll and 18th in the Associated Press poll.

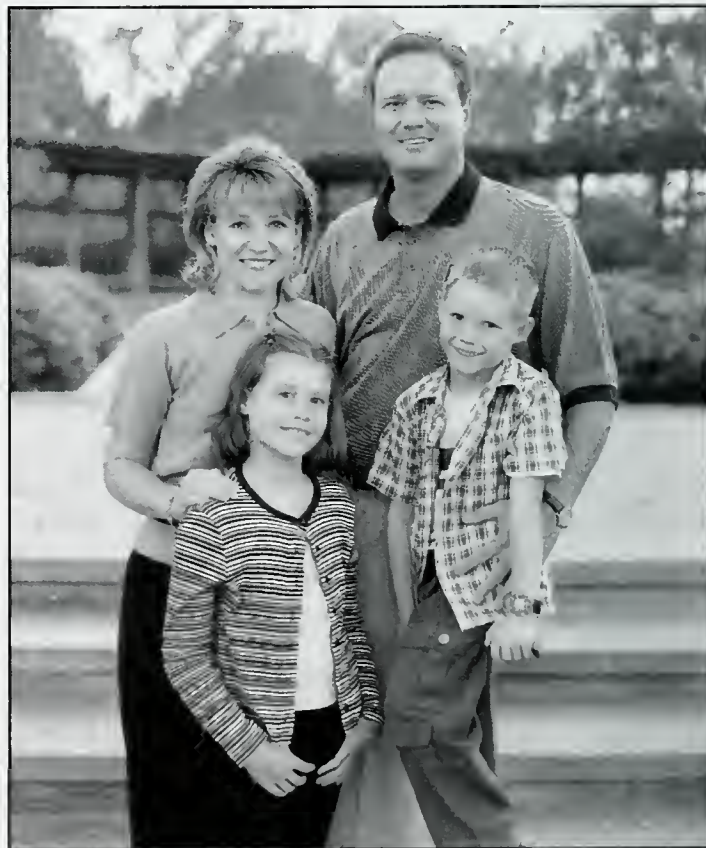

Tulsa was the first team to reach the 20- and 25-win plateau for the 2000 season, and its 32 wins tied Iowa State and national-champion Michigan State for most wins. The Hurricane won a second straight regular-season Western Athletic Conference (WAC) title in 2000 after posting a 12-2 league record.

In the 2000 campaign, Self was named the Don Haskins WAC Coach of the Year, as voted by the league's coaches, was selected as the John and Nellie Wooden Coach of the Year as presented by the Utah Tipoff Club and named The Sporting News National Coach of the Year. He also was picked as one of 15 candidates for the Naismith College Coach of the Year Award, which is selected annually by the Atlanta Tipoff Club.

At age 37, Self has 15 years of Division I coaching experience. He has been a part of nine teams that advanced to postseason competition, including six trips to the NCAA Tournament and three appearances in the National Invitational Tournament (NIT).

Self's tenure at ORU, his first as a head coach at any level, was one in which he resurrected the Golden Eagles program. Before taking over the reigns, ORU had compiled the worst record in the program's history with a 5-22 mark in 1992-93. Although Self's first ORU team managed just six victories in 1993-94, the win total increased to 10 the following year. In his third season at the helm, Self guided the Golden Eagles to an 18-9 record. In 1996-97, ORU registered a 22-6 mark and made the school's first postseason tournament appearance since 1983-84, receiving an invitation to the NIT.

7-Year Coaching Record: 130-80 (.619)

Prior to his appointment at ORU, Self spent seven seasons as an assistant coach at Oklahoma State University. He originally joined the Cowboys staff for the 1986-87 season and spent the next four years working under then-OSU head coach Leonard Hamilton (current head coach of the NBA's Washington Wizards). In the three seasons prior to arriving at ORU, Self served as an assistant on Eddie Sutton's staff at Oklahoma State.

During Self's seven seasons with the Cowboys, the team advanced to postseason play a total of five times, including three trips to the NCAA Tournament (1991-93) and two straight appearances in the National Invitational Tournament (1989-90). OSU posted a cumulative 128-88 record during his tenure, including a mark of 72-25 (.742) in his final three seasons.

At Oklahoma State, Self had the opportunity to help recruit and develop some of the Cowboys' top players, including current NBA players: Bryant Reeves, the 6th overall pick in the 1995 NBA draft, John Starks. Byron Houston and Brooks Thompson.

Before Oklahoma State, Self spent the 1985-86 season on Larry Brown's coaching staff at the University of Kansas. While Self was at Kansas, the Jayhawks registered a 35-4 record and advanced to the NCAA Final Four. In addition to his duties on the varsity coaching staff, Self also coached the Kansas junior varsity team to a 12-7 overall record.

A native of Edmond, Okla., Self competed collegiately at Oklahoma State where he was a four-year letterwinner from 1981 to 1985 and was an All-Big Eight freshman team selection in 1983. He received his bachelor's degree in business in 1985 and a master's degree in athletic administration in 1989, both from Oklahoma State. Self is the second Fighting Illini basketball coach with Oklahoma roots. Former coach Lou Henson was a native of Okay, Okla., and coached at Illinois from 1976-96.

Self and his wife, Cindy, have two children: daughter Lauren (9) and son Tyler (7).

Playing Experience

High School: Played basketball at Edmond High School (Okla.) and was selected as the Oklahoma Big School Player of the Year in 1981 after averaging 22 points, eight rebounds and seven assists per game. He was team captain as a senior and was honored as a Converse All-American. He played in the Faith Seven and Oklahoma All-State games.

College: Was a four-year letterwinner at Oklahoma State University (1981-85). He led OSU in assists two straight years and was named to the All-Big Eight freshman team. He led OSU in assists in 1983-84 with 126 and in 1984-85 with 108. He also led the Cowboys in free throw percentage in 1983-84, shooting .754 percent.

Coaching Experience

1985-86 - University of Kansas

Served as an assistant coach at the University of Kansas under Larry Brown, helping the Jayhawks to a 35-4 record • Also coached the Kansas junior varsity team that same year and led the squad to a 12-7 record.

1987-93 - Oklahoma State University

Was an assistant coach at his alma mater, Oklahoma State University, for seven years • OSU had an overall 128-88 record during that time span • During his seven-year stint, OSU advanced to postseason play five times, including three times to the NCAA Tournament and two appearances in the NIT.

1994-97 - Oral Roberts University

Appointed head coach at Oral Roberts University on March 8, 1993 • Registered an overall coaching record of 56-53 in four seasons, but over the last two seasons compiled a 39-16 mark • Led ORU to an appearance in the NIT in 1996-97 • Following a loss to Tulsa on Jan. 11, 1997, ORU won 12 of its final 13 regular season games in the 1996-97 season.

1998-2000 - University of Tulsa

Named head coach at the University of Tulsa on July 3, 1997 • Despite a season of adversity, Self led his first Tulsa team to a 19-12 record and a third place 9-5 record in the Western Athletic Conference's Pacific Division • Tulsa won 10 of its final 14 games, with the only losses coming at the hands of #15 TCU twice and #20 New Mexico, by a combined total of six points, and a 10-point road loss at Hawaii • His 19-12 record was the fifth-best mark for a first-year head coach among the 26 head basketball coaches in Tulsa school history • Named the Don Haskins WAC Coach of the Year after leading Tulsa to its second straight regular-season conference championship with a 12-2 record • Led Tulsa to a 32-5 record and Elite Eight appearance in 2000, setting a school record for victories in a season. John and Nellie Wooden National Coach of the Year in 2000 • Named National Coach of the Year by The Sporting News.

2000-01 - University of Illinois

Named Illinois' 15th head coach on June 9, 2000.

Rob Judson

"Very few people in the state, if any, love or know Illinois basketball more than Rob. He's been a tremendous asset during the transition of coaching staffs with the players and in recruiting."

-Bill Self

An Illini Academic All-American, Rob Judson returned to his alma mater when he joined Lon Kruger's staff in 1996. Bill Self saw the same qualities that Judson has earned as one of the most-respected assistants in the nation and asked him to remain on the staff when Self was hired in June. In four seasons at Illinois, Judson has helped continue the great tradition of Fighting Illini basketball that he was a part of as a player in the late 1970s.

A four-year letterwinner at Zion-Benton High School, Judson played for his father, Phil, who was one-half of the famed Judson twins who led tiny Hebron High to the 1952 Illinois High School state championship. Twenty-three years later, Rob was his team's MVP, an all-state selection and a top recruit by the University of Illinois and Lou Henson.

While playing for the Fighting Illini from 1976-80, Judson starred not only on the court but in the classroom. Illinois went 70-52 in his four years, a mark which included a third-place finish in the 1980 NIT. As an Illini, he set the Illinois career free-throw percentage record (.875), which still stands. Judson also earned four consecutive George Huff Academic awards, Academic All-Big Ten laurels (1979 & 1980) and CoSIDA Academic All-America honors (1979).

Judson's coaching career began at Palatine High School in 1980, then moved to Wauconda High School (1981-83) and Glenbrook South High School (1983-89) in suburban Chicago before joining Jim Molinari at Northern Illinois University. He followed Molinari to Bradley in 1991 (five years to the day), where he was the Bradley head coach's chief recruiter. A former Illinois Basketball Coaches Association District Coach-of-the-Year, Judson is a member of that organization's Hall of Fame and is currently on the organization's Board of Directors.

Judson was the fourth member of his family to letter at Illinois. Besides his father, Phil, who lettered in 1955 and 1956, his uncles Paul and Howard left their mark on Fighting Illini basketball. Paul lettered from 1954-56, earning first-team All-Big Ten honors as a junior and senior.

He was Illinois' most valuable player in 1955. Howard lettered in 1944 and 1945 before enjoying a seven-year major league baseball career as a pitcher with the Chicago White Sox (1948-52) and Cincinnati Reds (1953-54).

Rob, 41, has degrees from both Illinois (B.A., liberal arts, 1980) and Roosevelt University (M.A., administration and supervision). He is married to the former Kim McCarty of Tuscola. The couple has three children: daughters Karin and Kristin, and son Matthew.

"Norm has played a huge role in our success as a member of our staff over the last five years. He is an absolute basketball junkie who has a great passion for the game and for people."

-Bill Self

Norman Roberts continues his long association with Bill Self after joining the Illinois staff on June 29, 2000. He worked on Self's staff all three years in Tulsa and for two seasons at Oral Roberts, helping the schools to three postseason appearances.

Roberts went to Oral Roberts following four years as head coach at his alma mater, Queen's College, and four years as the freshman coach at Archbishop Molloy High School in New York City where he had the opportunity to coach current NBA point guard Kenny Anderson.

A 1987 graduate of Queen's College with a bachelor's degree in health and physical education, Roberts is the school's all-time leading scorer with 1,719 points. He also is the career leader in steals and assists, and had his number (15) retired by his alma mater in 1993.

A top recruiter for Self at both Tulsa and Oral Roberts, Roberts helped lead ORU to a 39-16 record over two seasons and Tulsa to a 74-27 record over three years, including a trip to the "Elite Eight" in 2000 when the Golden Hurricane posted an impressive 32-5 record.

Born July 21, 1965, in Queens, N.Y., he and his wife, Pascale, have two sons, Nicholas and Justin.

Roberts is a member of the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC) and Black Coaches Association (BCA).

His first head coaching job came at Copperas Cove High School in New Braunfels, Texas, under then-athletics director and football coach Hal Mumme, the University of Kentucky head football coach.

A native of Graford, Texas, Gillispie is a 1983 graduate of Southwest Texas State with a bachelor's in education. He is a member of the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC) and is currently serving on the Assistant Coaches Committee. Gillispie is not married.

Billy Gillispie joined Norman Roberts in coming to Illinois from Bill Self's Tulsa Golden Hurricane staff. Gillispie will be the recruiting coordinator on the Fighting Illini staff having earned the reputation as one of the Southwest's top recruiters.

Gillispie moved to Tulsa for the 1998-99 season following two-and-a-half seasons as an assistant at Baylor as the Bears' top assistant and recruiting coordinator under Harry Miller. With Baylor, Gillispie helped coach future pro Brian Skinner.

While at Tulsa under Self, Gillispie helped with the development of future pro Michael Ruffin and helped the Golden Hurricane to WAC championships in 1999 and 2000. The 2000 squad reached the NCAA Elite Eight in compiling a Beginning his fourth season at Illinois, Jeff Guin serves as the administrative assistant for the Fighting Illini basketball program. He coordinates the Illini video exchange and assists in scouting opponents. Guin also assists with the Illini summer basketball camps.

Prior to beginning his career at Illinois in August 1997, Guin served as a student manager for the Gators under Lon Kruger and Billy Donovan, including the 1994 run to the Final Four. He stayed at Florida for one year under Donovan after Kruger came to the University of Illinois in March 1996.

He received a bachelor's degree in elementary education from Florida in 1995, then received a master's degree in elementary education in 1996. In 1997, Guin earned a second master's degree, in sports management, from Florida.

Prior to attending Florida, he played two years (1992 and 1993) for Okaloosa-Walton Community College. Guin earned Academic All-America NJCAA Region 1 honors in 1992 and 1993.

Guin worked under Kruger from 1994-96, helping the Gators to a Final Four trip in 1994 and a NCAA berth in 1995. At Illinois, he helped the Illini to a Big Ten title in 1998 and NCAA Tournament appearances in 1998 and 2000.

Guin also gained valuable experience working two summers with USA Basketball. In 1995, he was a member of the support staff for the World University Games team trials and training camp, and in 1996, Guin was on the support staff for the Olympic Team Exhibition Tour and the Olympic Games.

He also has spent two summers working with the People to People Student Ambassador Program coaching teams made up of high school players from Illinois and Wisconsin in Belgium and Ireland.

Guin is engaged to Betsy Bergeson, a native of Tuscola, Ill., who will graduate from Illinois in May 2001. The two are scheduled to be married next summer.

Strength & Conditioning

It takes more to become a championship-caliber team than just showing up for the first day of practice. Jim Zielinski, Illinois' strength and conditioning coach, is committed to seeing every individual on the team become stronger, faster and the best overall athlete he can be.

"I believe that strength training has a huge impact on the success of a basketball team," Zielinski says.

He is a firm believer in individualizing a work out regiment for each player, because every person has individual needs and goals in his strength program.

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING COACH

Jim Zielinski

Veteran strength coach Jim Zielinski, who has spent the last four seasons as Director of Strength and Conditioning at Oregon State, returned to his home state this year as the head strength coach for the University of Illinois.

A native of Rockford, Ill., Zielinski graduated from Northern Illinois in 1986 where he was a defensive back under Coach Bill Mallory. He helped lead his squad to a win in the California Bowl in 1983.

A 10-year veteran of the business, Zielinski joins the UI staff after stints at Oregon State (1995-99), Northern Illinois (1988-95) and Nebraska (1988). During his time at OSU, he was responsible for the strength program design, speed and strength development, and all test and evaluation for the varsity sports.

From 1988-95, Zielinski was the head strength and conditioning coordinator for the Northern Illinois Huskies 16-sport program. During his six and a half years at NIU, Zielinski implemented the program design and monitored the athlete's daily progress.

He began his career as an assistant strength coach at the University of Nebraska.

Zielinski and his wife Teresa, have three children James Edward, Alexandra Marie and Zachary.

"We sit down with each and every player and pick out specific goals. That could be his body weight, a goal we want him to bench press or a goal we want him to squat," Zielinski added.

Zielinski also uses a hands-on approach to strength and conditioning training. He and his staff work individually with each player to ensure that the student-athlete is doing the exercises correctly.

He also emphasizes the mental preparation of strength training and how the mind prepares the players for the battle of the game. Another key in the strength program, especially down the stretch, is to prevent injuries. It is a long season with a lot of games and the teams which have put in the time in to become the best conditioned, rise above the rest down the stretch of the year.

When it comes to sports medicine, the University of Illinois has the finest in medical personnel to keep the Fighting Illini basketball players healthy and on the court. The sports medicine staff's No. 1 goal is the prevention of injuries, but in the unfortunate event of an injury the staff works diligently to get the athlete back into playing condition as quickly as possible.

The Sports Medicine Staff: Dr. Stephen Soboroff, Rod Cardinal and Dr. Robert Gurtler.

Prior to his appointment at Illinois, he served in a similar capacity at the U.S. Military Academy.

A native of Blaine, Minn., Cardinal graduated from Southwest State University (Minn.) in 1971 with a B.S. in health and physical education. He was a student trainer in high school, and in college for three years prior to his West Point position. He also played varsity basketball in college.

Cardinal earned a master's degree in 1977 from Illinois in physical education and sports medicine with an additional emphasis in educational administration. He received the Alumni Achievement Award from Southwest State University in 1995.

Cardinal, along with his wife, Mary have three grown children and reside in Tolono.

The sports medicine team would not be complete without the team physicians, who tend to the medical needs of the student-athletes. Dr. Stephen Soboroff is the head team physician and Dr. Robert Gurtler is the team orthopedic surgeon.

Soboroff has served in this capacity for the University of Illinois since 1983. He directs the drug-education and drug-testing programs, and provides consultations to the athletic training staff. He received his M.D. from the UI College of Medicine in Chicago in 1969, and is certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine. Soboroff serves on the University of Illinois faculty in the School of Medicine and the Department of Kinesiology.

Gurtler also has been on the team's medical staff since 1983. He is responsible for treating orthopedic injuries to athletes in varsity sports. In addition to his duties with the U of I, Gurtler has a private practice at Carle Hospital, focusing primarily on sports-related injuries.

RICHMONDS ENDOW COACH'S POSITION

The University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign has been close in many respects to Jack Richmond all his life.

The Champaign resident, U of I graduate, retired businessman, and longtime benefactor has again strengthened his ties to his alma mater. A lifelong Fighting Illini fan, Jack and his wife, Marge, significantly increased their previous seven-figure commitment to the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics by endowing the salary of the men's basketball head coach position.

"The Richmond Family Endowed Men's Head Basketball Coach," is the latest on a long list of generous support from the Richmond family. Jack, whose ancestors helped settle Champaign County, recalled his parents Arthur Dean and Mildred Richmond, contributed to the U of I for the construction of Memorial Stadium. Seven-year-old Jack was on hand for the dedication of Memorial Stadium Oct. 17, 1924, and has been hooked on Fighting Illini sports ever since.

His own years at the U of I were greatly satisfying. He was a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, and was active in sports. As a freshman gymnast, who earned his numerals with the U of I team, Jack broke his sternum following a dismount from the rings. No longer able to compete as a gymnast, he focused his attention on weight training. At that point, weights weren't popular and were nonexistent at the U of I.

"I always thought that weight training, if done properly, would help athletes. Nobody believed me," he said.

Still, he convinced Seward Staley, director of the U of I School of Physical Education, to purchase a set of Olympic weights. A small but dedicated weight lifting team was formed, and the sport spread. Today, the benefits of weight training are widely recognized and top-notch equipment is readily available across campus. Jack smiles and says, "I feel like I was 60 years ahead of my time."

Jack graduated in 1943 with a bachelor's degree in agriculture. After a tour in the Army, he put his degree to work at the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service as a county farm planner. Later, he joined Marchant Calculators as a salesman and had clients ranging from grain elevator operators to the U of I. He remained with Marchant, which was acquired by Smith Corona and became known as SCM Corp., until 1972. Then he was ready to embark on a new course — the stock market.

He had dabbled in the market since 1955, but by the early 1970s he had become active. He enjoyed success in this realm as well.

Jack stayed busy investing and active in organizations such as the Champaign Lions Club, in which he was president, Sons of American Revolution, the Society of the War of 1812, and three Masonic orders. By the mid-1970s, he was "looking at organizations to find a good place to put my money," he said. His solution was, "where people need it and where it will do the most good."

Jack and Marge Richmond with Mr. Richmond's mother, Mildred

That place, he decided, was the U of I. A donor since 1965, his generosity to the University increased significantly over the years. Jack and his mother became members of the Presidents Council in 1976 and Marge became a member in 1990.

Thanks to seven-figure commitments from the estate of Mildred Richmond and from Jack and Marjorie Laird Richmond, the U of I constructed the Richmond Journalism Teaching Studio, adjacent to and affiliated with Campbell Hall for Public Telecommunication, the new WILL broadcast facility at UIUC. The Richmond Studio honors Jack, Marge, and the memory of Arthur Dean and Mildred Hummel Richmond.

Always interested in U of I athletics, Jack is an honorary member of the I Man's Association and has been a member and former president of the Illini Quarterback Club since 1955. He also joined the Rebounders Club shortly after former head coach Lou Henson founded it. Jack is also a life member of the Fighting Illini Scholarship Fund.

Now the Richmond name will also be forever associated with the athletics at the U of I through the endowment of the men's basketball head coach position. Jack said he hopes his gift ensures success for the Fighting Illini program for future generations through the Richmond Family Endowed Men's Head Basketball Coach.

For lifelong Illini fan and generous supporter Jack Richmond, it just doesn't get any better.

The Players

2000 Big Ten Tournament Runner-Up ... A return to the NCAA Tournament ... Returning all five starters and 12 letterwinners ... Beginning of the Bill Self era.

Bill Self begins his tenure as the 15th coach in Illinois basketball history with one of the most anticipated seasons in recent memory. All five starters, nine of the top 10 scorers and 12 letterwinners from the 2000 squad return giving Self a strong nucleus of experience. Yet, with just two seniors among the top nine returning scorers, the Illini are still relatively young.

Illinois is coming off a 22-10 season, including an 11-5 mark in Big Ten play, good for fourth place in the league. Despite the talent and experience returning, the Illini will have to battle to match last year's 22 victories. A schedule rated by some as the toughest in the nation will severely test Illinois in November and December.

"It's probably as competitive a schedule as anyone in America will play," Self said. "The Big Ten schedule is always going to be a beast, but you throw in our November-December schedule and it's one that will definitely keep our players and fans excited about each up-and-coming game."

"We have a chance to play up to five games against consensus Top 10 teams in the non-conference portion of the schedule. This schedule will be a great gauge as to where we are on the national level."

Self welcomes two newcomers to the squad in 7-foot-2-inch center Nick Smith and 6-5 guard Brett Melton. Smith is the tallest player in Illini history, while Melton adds solid depth at guard with his uncanny long-range shooting ability.

"Nick Smith is going to be a very good player," Self said. "Whether his strength allows him to play a lot this season is yet to be seen. He is a tremendous shooter."

"Brett should be able to contribute right from the start and make an impact immediately. He has tremendous shooting range."

Another player making his first appearance for the Illini will be Jerrance Howard, a point guard who helped lead Peoria High School to a 23-4 record while dishing out 7.8 assists per game in 1999. Howard sat out last season as a redshirt.

These players will join an Illini squad which returns 89 percent of the team's scoring and 87 percent of the rebounding. The Illini leaders in every statistical category return for the 2000-01 season.

"We want to pressure whether we're on offense or defense," Self said. "We want to put our opponents on their heels and attack both offensively and defensively. We want to contest every dribble, every pass and every shot."

Leading the backcourt labeled as one of the top tandems in the nation is the sophomore-junior guard combo of Frank Williams and Cory Bradford. Bradford was the team's leading scorer each of the last two years and was selected as a Wooden Award Preseason All-American (one of 25 players) for the second consecutive season. Bradford has set school three-point shooting records in each of his first two seasons and figures to move high on the UI career scoring list.

A former Parade All-American, Williams started 29 games at the point last year and led the team in assists with an average of 4.1 per game. He also finished second on the team in scoring with an average of 11.4 points.

"Cory has proven himself over the last two years as a very good player," Self said. "Frank played very well over the last half of last season. You have to remember that they were just first and second year players a year ago. Both still have a lot to improve on, but from a size and skill viewpoint, very few teams have what we have at those positions."

2000-01 Preview

In addition to Bradford and Williams, the Illini return the services of sophomore Sean Harrington, senior Nate Mast, and walk-on Joe Cross, a transfer from Florida International and the younger brother of Dan Cross who played for former Illini coach Lon Kruger at Florida.

Harrington shot 40 percent from three-point range (20-50) last season and led the squad in free throw shooting at 83 percent. Harrington's court time grew steadily during the season.

Mast has been used as a back-up point guard during his Illinois career as he saw action in 21 games last year. Cross played in just 10 games after becoming eligible for the spring semester in 2000. Howard is expected to add considerable depth to the point guard position after sitting out last season as a redshirt.

Freshman Brett Melton, from nearby Mahomet-Seymour High School, is an outstanding three-point shooter and should be able to contribute off the bench, while red-shirt freshman Jerrance Howard will try to fill one of the Illini biggest needs as a back-up point guard.

The Illini have experience and size at the other perimeter position. Senior Sergio McClain started 19 of 32 games last year and for the second year in a row, junior Lucas Johnson ended the season in the starting lineup. Budding star Brian Cook has proven to be effective facing the basket and has three-point range.

McClain averaged 6.8 points and 3.8 rebounds last year, while ranking second on the team with 53 assists. He started the final 15 games in which he played last season.

Johnson averaged 6.1 points and 3.3 rebounds while shooting 40 percent from three-point range. He also may have led the Big Ten in floor burns as his hustle and defensive intensity made him an Illini crowd favorite. He started the final 10 games of the season. Cook can move to the perimeter if the Illini want to go "big" or play inside with his back to the basket.

The Illini frontcourt has experience, depth and talent.

Brian Cook enters the 2000-01 season as one of the top players in the Big Ten. The 2000 Big Ten Co-Freshman of the Year, enters the season stronger and more experienced. He averaged 10.2 points and 4.8 rebounds in Big Ten play last season, including a run through the Big Ten Tournament that landed him on the all-tournament squad. Cook has the size to play inside with his back to the basket, and the ability and quickness to move to the three-point line. His versatility could cause match-up problems for opponents all season.

Marcus Griffin was third on the team in scoring with an average of 10.7 points per game last year, but was replaced by Cook in the starting lineup after suffering a knee injury in January. Griffin missed just five games, but was effective coming off the bench the remainder of the season averaging 7.3 points in 13.3 minutes over the last 10 games.

Two juniors who saw considerable action each of their first two seasons are Damir Krupalija and Robert Archibald.

Krupalija averaged nearly 14 minutes per game last year while shooting nearly 58 percent from the floor and averaging 4.1 rebounds per game. He suffered through much of the season with an injured foot. He led the Illini with an average of 5.5 boards in 24 games in 1999.

Archibald started 20 games last year and shot 52 percent from the floor. Another summer in the weight room increased the 6-11 forward/center to 250 pounds.

Nick Smith, the 2000 Gatorade Player-of-the-Year in Florida, has shown signs of being one of the team's outstanding shooters. Already the tallest player in Illinois history at 7-2, Smith will continue to work on his strength to gain playing time as a freshman.

"This is a good team to run a 'high-low' offense like we have," Self said. "All of our big guys have goods skills and there is no reason they can't be effective. One area we need to improve on is back-to-the-basket scoring ability"

1999-2000 in Review

ILLINOIS 2000 Season-in-Review

An improbable run through the 1999 Big Ten Tournament set sites high entering the 1999-2000 season for the Fighting Illini. With a talented, yet young squad, Illini head coach Lon Kruger knew expectations were high, but also knew it would be a challenging year.

A competitive non-conference slate gave the Illini a chance to see where they would fit into the rugged Big Ten Conference. Tough back-to-back losses to No. 17 Duke (69-72) and No. 24 Maryland (67-69) early in the season taught the young Illini important lessons they would rely on later during conference play. A win over eighth-ranked Kansas at the United Center in Chicago was the biggest non-conference victory of the season. Illinois posted an 8-3 record in non-conference play and ranked 19th in the nation opening the Big Ten season.

Big Ten play opened with a bang when freshman Frank Williams nailed a three-point bomb at the final buzzer to give the Illini an 80-77 victory over Ohio State in front of a national TV audience. A three-game tailspin put the Illini in a hole before turning things around with a victory over Penn State at the Assembly Hall. Illinois completed the conference portion of the schedule by winning eight of 10 games with losses coming to eventual national-champion Michigan State and at Ohio State. The eight victories came by an average of 22 points per game, with a 51-50 victory at Penn State the only victory less than nine points. The Fighting Illini finished the season in fourth place with an 11-5 mark in the Big Ten.

Illinois went 4-5 vs. ranked teams during the season, including two wins over Indiana. The biggest victory over the Hoosiers came Feb. 22 when the Illini ran around, through and over Indiana with an 87-63 victory at the Assembly Hall.

In the Big Ten Tournament, Illinois opened with an electrifying 72-69 victory over Indiana when scoring leader Cory Bradford nailed a three-pointer with 1.3 seconds remaining in the game. Illinois defeated Penn State for the third time during the season to end up in the championship game for the second straight season. Michigan State wore down the Illini 76-61 before starting the Spartan march to the national title.

Illinois returned to NCAA Tournament play with a No. 4 seed in the South Regional. Illinois opened with a 68-58 victory over Penn before ending the season with a loss to eventual national runner-up Florida.

Big Ten Co-Freshman of the Year Brian Cook was named to the All-Big Ten Tournament team after averaging 14.3 points and 6.6 rebounds in three games in Chicago.

Cook's role with the team took a giant step up when Marcus Griffin was sidelined with a knee injury in late January. Cook stepped into the starting lineup and led the Illini in scoring in three of the next four games.

In May, Kruger made the decision to leave Illinois and became the head coach of the NBA's Atlanta Hawks. Former Tulsa coach Bill Self was named Illinois' 15th head basketball coach on June 9, starting a new era in Illini hoops.

Honors

Cory Bradford

- Second-team All-Big Ten (coaches and media).
- John Wooden Award Finalist.
- Broke his own school record for three-pointers made in a season with his 96 treys in 1999-2000. His 255 attempts also set an Illini record.
- Hit a three-pointer in every game for the second consecutive season, a first by an Illini player. He enters 2000-01 with a streak of 64 straight games with a three pointer.
- Was one of 12 players chosen for the USA Basketball Select Team to work out and scrimmage against the 2000 U.S. Olympic Squad.

Brian Cook

- Big Ten Co-Freshman of the Year.
- Big Ten All-Tournament Team selection.
- One of 12 players chosen for the USA Basketball Young Men's Team (20-and-under) that competed in the World Championships Qualifying Tournament in Brazil.

Nov. 19, 1999

Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

The Fighting Illini started off slowly, but eventually got the job done in winning its season opener against in-state opponent WIU. The Illini trailed 25-22 with 1:30 left in the first half, before going on an 8-0 run over that stretch to take a five point lead into halftime. Lucas Johnson hit back-to-back three pointers and Robert Archibald made a shot at the buzzer to account for UI's points during the spurt.

Illinois came out on fire to start the second half, exploding on a 24-4 run to open up a comfortable margin. Marcus Griffin, who was scoreless in the first half, scored all seven of his points during the run. Frank Williams hit a pair of threes around a trey by Cory Bradford, and Sergio McClain scored both of his baskets during the stretch. The run gave Illinois a commanding 54-29 lead with just over 12 minutes remaining in the contest.

The offense was in full gear in the second half, as UI shot a sizzling 62 percent from the floor. The Illini substituted frequently, as all twelve players saw double figures in minutes.

Bradley 62

Nov. 22, 1999

Carver Arena, Peoria, Ill.

It was a homecoming for three UI players, as Sergio McClain, Marcus Griffin, and Frank Williams returned to Peoria as the Illini battled the Braves. Bradley came out on fire, racing out to an 11-2 lead. Bradley made its first seven shots of the game in maintaining early control. Illinois went on two runs to stay close. Trailing by seven, the Illini went on a 9-0 run sparked by five points from Bradford, to take its first and only lead of the half with 8 minutes remaining. After falling behind by eight minutes later, the Illini scored the last six points of the half to head into the locker room down only two.

Illinois outscored BU 13-4 in just over two minutes to open up a seven point margin. Bradford and Williams hit back-to-back treys and Bradford added another score to highlight the run. The Illini never trailed after that point, as the Braves could get no closer than three. Illinois made its free throws down the stretch to close it out, shooting an impressive 17 of 22 from the stripe in the second half.

#16 Illinois 69
#17 Duke 72

Nov. 30, 1999

United Center, Chicago, Ill.

The inaugural ACC/Big Ten Challenge matched up two Top 25 teams in Illinois and Duke at the United Center. Early on it was all Duke, as the Blue Devils raced out to an early 11-3 lead. Illinois had trouble finding its rhythm offensively, connecting on only four of its first 16 shots from the floor. Brian Cook gave the Illini a spark off the bench, scoring seven points on three for three shooting, as Illinois narrowed the deficit to three. Cleotis Brown took over from there, hitting a pair of threes and a driving layup to put the Illini ahead going into halftime.

Illinois went back and forth from man-to-man to zone defense in the second half to throw off Duke's rhythm and to contain Chris Carrawell. Carrawell did not get many clean looks, but he continued to drive to the basket and draw fouls. Carrawell brought Duke back to a tie at 50-50 with a three-point play with 11 minutes remaining.

Illinois made just two shots in over seven minutes, as Duke opened up a nine point advantage. A pair of threes by Frank Williams and free throws by Archibald and Bradford pulled the Illini within one with :40 remaining. Carrawell drew a foul on the next possession and made both free throws, making it a three point game. A last second, long range three by Williams to send the game into overtime was off the mark.

#16 Illinois 67
#24 Maryland 69

Dec. 4, 1999
MCI Center, Washington D.C.

Illinois dropped to 2-2 on the season with a heart-breaking two-point loss to Maryland in the opening round of the BB&T Classic, 69-67.

Illinois opened up an eight margin at 49-41 on Cory Bradford's third three pointer of the game, less than five minutes into the second half. But from there the Illini went ice cold from the floor. Maryland switched defenses from man to a 3-2 zone, and Illinois struggled with the new look, scoring just one basket over the next seven and a half minutes. Maryland, meanwhile, was able to erase the deficit as Terence Morris began to heat up and Lonny Baxter scored on rebound baskets.

Frank Williams kept the Illini in the game with five straight points down the stretch. With the game tied at 64 all, Maryland's Danny Miller threw up a desperation three with one left on the shot clock. The shot banked in off the side of the glass, giving the Terps a three point lead with :36 remaining. After a UI timeout, Williams answered with a three of his own to knot the score. Maryland then worked the clock down and guard Juan Dixon hit a tough baseline leaner past Marcus Griffin with just :06 left for the victory.

Seton Hall 61

Dec. 5, 1999
MCI Center, Washington D.C.

Illinois rebounded from its loss to Maryland with a convincing double-digit victory over Seton Hall in the consolation game of the BB&T.

The first half set the tone for the Illini as they pounded the offensive glass and Cory Bradford broke out of his shooting slump. Bradford entered the game hitting just 31% from the floor. But against the Pirates, he hit six of 14 shots, including five of eleven from behind the arc, for a game high 19 points. Illinois had it going both inside and outside as Marcus Griffin controlled the paint, scoring a season high 16 points and adding three blocks defensively.

Illinois led by as many as 15 in the second half and held a 60-46 advantage with seven minutes remaining when Seton Hall made it interesting. The Pirates went on a 10-0 run to close the gap to within four. But just when the Illini needed a bucket to stop the run, they got via a long-range three by Bradford. After a pair of free throws by Cleotis Brown, Bradford hit his fifth three moments later, giving the Illini a comfortable 12 point margin with only two minutes remaining.

#22 Illinois 98
Texas-Pan American 61

Dec. 8, 1999
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Illinois had no problem extending WITH winning streak to two games, with a 37-point win over Texas-Pan American. The Illini led by ten at halftime, and used a strong second half to pull away from the Broncs. Illinois shot .579 from the floor in the second half, its best shooting of the season. The offensive fireworks were led by center Marcus Griffin, who was unstoppable inside the lane, hitting eight of ten shots from the floor on the way to a career high 18 points. Four other Illini (Bradford, Brown, Johnson, McClain) scored in double figures.

Illinois' defensive pressure was just as effective as its offense, as the Illini limited Pan American to just three field goals in the first 13 minutes of the second half. At one point, Texas-Pan American went scoreless for five minutes and fifteen seconds.

Freshman point guard Frank Williams turned in another fine performance directing the Illini, scoring nine points and dishing out seven assists, while committing just one turnover.

GAME 7

#22 Illinois 81
Kansas State 48

Dec. 11, 1999

Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

The Illini showed off the complete package of fine-tuned offense and suffocating defense against the visiting Kansas State Wildcats. The end result was a landslide victory for the Illini, their second straight win with a margin of over thirty points.

Illinois built a double-digit lead in the first half thanks to a 17-3 run over a seven minute stretch. That lead ballooned in the second half, behind the hot shooting of Frank Williams and Lucas Johnson. Williams finished with a season-high 20 points, and Johnson chipped in with 14, including a trio of three-pointers.

The Illini were beaten on the boards, partially due to the foul trouble of Marcus Griffin which limited him to a season-low 15 minutes. But Illinois' defense was the real story of the game. It held Kansas State to just two field goals over the final twelve minutes of the contest. The Wildcats made just 16 baskets the entire game, on a dismal 27.6 percent shooting.

#20 Illinois 84
#8 Kansas 70

Dec. 18, 1999

United Center, Chicago, Ill.

Illinois rebounded from a sluggish start in earning its biggest win of the young season, with a 14 point victory over #8 Kansas, the second victory over a top-ten program under coach Lon Kruger.

Kansas built a 24-12 lead during the first 12 minutes of the contest while the Illini continued to misfire from the field. UI missed 15 of its first 18 shots, and could not muster any offense until Frank Williams found the hot hand. On three straight possessions he hit a three, a baseline jumper, and another three to slice into the Jayhawk lead. He then dished out a couple of highlight reel passes to Brian Cook and Marcus Griffin for easy baskets, as Illinois trimmed the lead to just one at the break.

Cory Bradford, who had just a pair of free throws and went 0-for-8 from the floor in the first half, turned things around in a big way. He hit five threes and scored 19 second-half points as Illinois pulled away. Marcus Griffin was the inside presence, giving Illinois the perfect inside-outside combination. Griffin appeared unstoppable on the block, scoring on three consecutive touches on the way to his first double-double. Frank Williams added 15 points and a career high eight assists in the victory.

GAME 9

#15 Illinois 72
Missouri 78

Dec. 21, 1999

Kiel Center, St. Louis, Mo.

Illinois lost the annual Braggin' Rights game to Missouri for the third straight year after letting a big lead slip away. The Illini jumped out to a commanding 30-14 advantage, establishing Marcus Griffin in the post and countering with a pair of deep threes by Cory Bradford. But over the next nine minutes, managed just one point while being outscored 21-1 by the Tigers.

In the second half, Mizzou was deadly from the floor, shooting 70 percent from the floor, including 8-of-10 from behind the arc. That helped the Tigers take an eleven point lead with four minutes remaining. But the Illini did not quit, setting up an aggressive full court press which created turnovers and easy baskets. Illinois narrowed the gap to 71-70, but in the last two minutes Missouri made seven of eight free throws to end the ball game.

The story of the game was the incredible perimeter shooting of the Tigers. Missouri shot 65 percent from three-point land for the game. Guard Keyon Dooling, who led all scorers with 25 points, was the only Missouri player to miss a shot from the floor in the second half.

GAME 10

Bethune-Cookman 47
#20 Illinois 97

Dec. 28, 1999
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Illinois bounced back from the rough loss to Missouri with its most dominating effort of the season against Bethune-Cookman. The Illini played with a small lead most of the first half, extending it to double-digits just before halftime, and never looked back.

It was a balanced effort for the Illini, with five players scoring in double figures. Freshman Brian Cook came off the bench with his best game of the year, scoring a career high 18 points to match the 18 scored by center Marcus Griffin. Along with Bradford (16), and Williams (12), Lucas Johnson continued his torrid shooting at the Assembly Hall, scoring 14 points behind four-of-five three-pointers.

Illinois' defense was stifling, holding the Wildcats to just 16 points in the second half on .182 shooting. In the first 12 minutes of the second half, UI outscored Bethune 28-6, with the Wildcats managing just two field goals over that time. The Illini forced Bethune into 26 turnovers, while grabbing a season high 18 steals. The 50 point margin of victory is the largest under Lon Kruger and is the most since UI defeated Chicago State by 69 (121-52) on Dec. 18, 1993.

GAME 11

Loyola-Chicago 71
#20 Illinois 107

Dec. 30, 1999
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Illinois dominated its opponent for the second game in a row, blowing past Loyola-Chicago. The Illini offense was the glaring highlight of the game, as it was a case of too many weapons for the Ramblers to handle.

Loyola had no one with the physical presence to check Marcus Griffin down low, and Griffin took advantage. The Illini center scored a career high 24 points and was just one rebound shy of recording a double-double. Senior Cleotis Brown added to the offense with his best game of the season, scoring 19 points behind a career high four three pointers. Finally, Frank Williams tied the Illini mark for third all-time in single game assists, when he dropped 13 dimes against the Ramblers.

It was a relatively close game for the first 13 minutes, with the Illini clinging to a five point lead. Then the hosts broke out with a 25-6 run over five minutes to open up a comfortable margin of 24 points. In the second half, Loyola could close the gap to more than 14 as the Illini cruised to victory.

Illinois was lethal from the outside, nailing 13 three-pointers in the game, which is just one short of the all-time Illini record for three-pointers in a game (14, against Iowa on Feb. 24, 1996).

GAME 12

#13 Ohio State 77
#19 Illinois 80

Jan. 6, 2000
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

The Illini opened Big Ten conference play with a thrilling 80-77 victory over visiting Ohio State. Cory Bradford was the offensive spark in the first half, scoring 11 points, including three treys, as the hosts opened up an early 12 point lead. Despite being hobbled by an ankle injury, Victor Chukwudebe performed admirably, scoring three baskets in the half in place of Marcus Griffin, who was sent to the bench with two early fouls.

Ohio State was paced by its guards, Michael Redd and Scoonie Penn. They combined for 19 first half points and helped trimmed the UI lead to seven at halftime.

Cleotis Brown came out of locker room fired up, scoring nine straight Illinois points to keep the lead in place. And late in the game, Cory Bradford had a pair of big baskets to keep the margin. But the Illini had no answer for OSU forward George Reese. With Krupalija, Archibald, and Chukwudebe sidelined with injuries, Illinois was forced to use Lucas Johnson and Sergio McClain on Reese. OSU exploited this mismatch and Reese scored time after time in the post, on his way to 18 second-half points.

With OSU down by two, the Buckeyes looked again to Reese. He missed a turnaround jumper, but Brian Brown tipped in the miss to tie the game at 77-77 with just five seconds left. Illinois quickly inbounded the ball to Frank Williams, who dashed up the court and put up a game-winning three from the top of the key. It found nothing but net as the horn sounded, ending the game.

#19 Illinois 59
Wisconsin 63

Jan. 8, 2000
Kohl Center, Madison Wis.

In a game that was a tale of two halves, the second half woes outweighed the first half heroics for the Illini as they let a big lead slip away in a loss to the Badgers.

Everything went Illinois' way in the first half, as the visitors jumped out to a 15 point advantage at half. Over a ten minute stretch, the Illini went on a 22-4 run, holding the Badgers to just one basket over that time. Marcus Griffin had seven and Frank Williams had eight as Illinois shot 43 percent despite only 1-of-10 from three-point range.

But the tide turned in the second half the Badgers made their comeback, beginning with a 12-2 run over the first five minutes. Wisconsin, which made just one of its first 14 three-point attempts, caught fire led by four treys from Duany Duany. The Badgers eventually regained the lead, but Frank Williams answered with a driving layup and foul with :32 left. Williams made the free throw for a 59-58 lead.

On UW's next possession, forward Mark Vershaw stepped out and nailed his first three of the season, for a two-point Badger lead.

After a Williams miss, Griffin was fouled on the putback with :03 left. He missed the first free throw and failed to hit the rim when trying to miss the second shot intentionally. Illinois fouled and UW made two free throws to end the game.

GAME 14

Purdue 69
#22 Illinois 66

Jan. 12, 2000
Assembly Hall, Champaign Ill.

For the ninth game in a row and sixth straight time on the Assembly Hall floor, Purdue was victorious over the Illini, this time by a score of 69-66.

Illinois started off very slowly, going four minutes before hitting its first shot of the game. Purdue took a 12-4 lead behind Brian Cardinal's eight points, but the Illini answered with an 8-0 run of its own, with four points a piece from Sean Harrington and Frank Williams.

Marcus Griffin scored five baskets in nine minutes of action to keep Illinois close, but Purdue took a three point lead into the locker room behind the strength of Cardinal's 14 points.

The game see-sawed back and fourth until the Illini broke a 48-48 tie with a quick 7-0 run, capped by Harrington's second trey of the game.

The lead did not last long, as Purdue responded with an 11-2 run of its own. All of Purdue's baskets during the pivotal point of the game were offensive putbacks by senior Mike Robinson. Robinson had seven offensive rebounds in the second half alone.

The Illini found themselves down 65-61 with less than three minutes left. The lead was trimmed to one with under a minute and Illinois had possession. Cory Bradford got an open look at a three, but the shot was off and UI was forced to foul. Carson Cunningham made two free throws with :26 remaining to make it a three point game. Illinois called timeout to set the play, but Williams' attempted three to send the game into overtime came up just short.

#22 Illinois 91
Michigan (OT) 95

Jan. 16, 2000
Crisler Arena, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Illinois dropped its third straight game with an overtime loss to the Michigan Wolverines.

Sergio McClain earned his first start since the Bradley game on Nov. 22, and the junior responded with his best game of the season. McClain was a monster on the boards, grabbing 11 in the first half, as UI outrebounded Michigan 25-14. Illinois took a 38-34 lead into halftime behind nine points from Marcus Griffin and eight a piece from Bradford and Krupalija.

Early in the second half the Illini lead again grew to seven points, but it was quickly wiped out by three straight Michigan treys, two by Jamal Crawford and one by Kevin Gaines, giving the Wolverines a 50-48 lead. The lead exchanged hands four times before UM built a seven point cushion with 7:30 left.

Illinois outscored Michigan 11-4 over the next two minutes to tie it at 74 all on Cleotis Brown's three free throws. Michigan then scored six straight points but again Illinois bounced back to tie.

After a Michigan miss, Illinois called time out with :23 to set up the final play. McClain passed to Bradford, who fumbled it and the defender knocked the ball out of bounds with one tenth of a second left. Robert Archibald tried to tip in a lob pass off the inbounds play but missed, sending the game into OT.

In overtime, Illinois had the lead on three separate occasions, only to see Michigan tie it each time. The Wolverines went ahead for good on a dunk by Josh Asselin with :49 left. Cory Bradford's third attempt was off, forcing the Illini to foul and Michigan, which shot 82 percent from the line on the day, made the foul shots in the closing seconds to end the game.

GAME 16

Penn State 76
Illinois 87

Jan. 22, 2000
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Illinois ended its three game losing skid with a home victory over Penn State, 87-76, to move to 2-3 in the Big Ten Conference.

Freshman Brian Cook earned his first career start, in place of the injured Marcus Griffin. Cook responded brilliantly by calmly knocking down five of five shots in the first half to pace the Illini. Cory Bradford, who missed some easy shots early in the game, finally got the ball to drop. He nailed two treys, including one at the buzzer to lead all scorers with 11 points as the Illini took a 43-32 lead into halftime.

In the second half, the Illini started to pull away thanks to the scoring duo of Cook and Frank Williams. Williams was a spark plug off the bench, scoring 16 points in 31 minutes of action. The lead grew to as many as 17 points and it looked as though Penn State could get no closer, as the Illini defense had frustrated Jarrett Stephens, holding him to a season low 10 points.

But the Lions remained close thanks to the play of guard Joe Crispin. Crispin, who had scored 30 points in the Assembly Hall last season in a PSU victory, had just five points in the first half while sitting for 10 of the 20 minutes. But in the second half, Crispin was automatic, scoring from behind the arc, on drives, and at the free throw line.

Crispin finished with 31 points, but it was not enough to offset the balanced Illini attack, which saw all ten players register in the scoring column.

GAME 17

Illinois 69
Iowa 58

Jan. 26, 2000
Carver-Hawkeye Arena, Iowa City, Iowa

The Illini moved to .500 in conference play with a gutsy 69-58 road win over the Iowa Hawkeyes.

Illinois controlled the first half, jumping out to as much as a 15 point advantage when Cory Bradford's trey made it 34-19. But in the final five minutes of the half, Iowa began connecting from three-point range, cutting the deficit in half, 40-32 by the break.

Early in the second half, the Hawkeyes made their run, clamping down on defense and converting opportunities on offense. The Illini saw a nine point lead turn into a five point deficit as the Hawkeyes went on a 20-6 run.

Lon Kruger called timeout to settle down his troops down with under seven minutes remaining. Just when it looked as though the Illini had let another big lead slip away, the team responded when it counted most.

Frank Williams was the catalyst on offense, driving to the lane and either finishing or dumping it off to Brian Cook for easy baskets. The defense was intense, led by Sergio McClain's pressure on Dean Oliver and Robert Archibald hitting the boards.

The result was a powerful closing run of 18-2 to preserve the victory, as the Hawkeyes managed just two free throws in the final seven minutes.

GAME 18

Illinois 66
#9 Michigan St. 91

Jan. 30, 2000
Breslin Center, East Lansing, Mich.

Illinois saw its two game winning streak come to a halt in East Lansing, courtesy of Michigan State. The Spartans dominated the boards to take a commanding 91-66 victory, the worst defeat for the Illini since a 92-56 loss at Temple on Dec. 10, 1991

Illinois fell behind by 12 during the first 10 minutes, due to MSU's second chance points and the hot shooting of Morris Peterson. The Illini were able to trim the lead down to six at 32-26, but Michigan State closed the half with a 17-4 run behind six points from Charlie Bell and a pair of driving layups by Mateen Cleaves.

Michigan State, which enjoyed a 22-6 advantage on the boards in the first half, continued to attack the glass in the second. And the Spartan defense was just as aggressive, holding the Illini to just one free throw by Robert Archibald over the first nine minutes of the second stanza. By then MSU had opened up its biggest margin of the game at 36 points, a deficit from which the Illini could not recover.

Although the Illini had just 11 turnovers and shot 48 percent from the field, rebounding was the key and the Illini were beaten 41-16 on the boards for the game.

GAME 19

Minnesota 59
Illinois 73

Feb. 2, 2000

Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

After two straight road games, Illinois came back to the Assembly Hall and was a 73-59 winner over the visiting Minnesota Golden Gophers Wednesday night.

Illinois came out and applied pressure on both ends of the floor, and jumped out to a huge advantage. After Kevin Burleson hit a three-pointer on the first possession of the game, the Illini scored 20 unanswered points to open up a seventeen point lead eight minutes into the game.

Minnesota cut the lead down to ten, but the Illini pushed it back up to 18 after a basket by Victor Chukwudebe and back to back threes from Sean Harrington and Frank Williams. Illinois took a 39-28 lead into halftime.

Terrence Simmons started the Gopher rally in the second half, scoring Minnesota's first eight points as the lead was all of the sudden down to three points. But the Gophers would get no closer the rest of the way. Brian Cook's mid-range jumpers and the defensive intensity of Frank Williams (4 steals, 8 defensive rebounds) and Lucas Johnson (3 steals) carried the Illini to victory.

GAME 20

Illinois 51
Penn State 50

Feb. 6, 2000

Bryce Jordan Center, University Park, Pa.

Illinois opened up a ten point lead early on behind the scoring of Brian Cook. After PSU cut it down to 18-14, the Illini closed out the last six minutes of the half with a 9-2 run to take an eleven point lead into the locker room.

In the second half, PSU warmed up while the Illini went cold from the floor. A twelve point lead at the 17-minute mark turned into a two point deficit as the Lions went on a 14-0 run. PSU began connecting on the three-ball, with Crispin nailing two and Titus Ivory one as the hosts held onto a one point lead.

The game was tied with four minutes left when Cory Bradford and Sergio McClain each scored layups to make it 51-47 with less than two minutes left.

After a PSU basket, Illinois had a shot clock violation and the Lions had a chance to tie. Joe Crispin drove the lane and was fouled, but opened up a gash over his eye on the drive. He was unable to shoot the free throws, and was replaced by Brandon Watkins, who made one of two to make it 51-50.

PSU fouled Brian Cook with :23 left, but Cook missed the front end of the bonus and the Lions called timeout. Gyasi Cline-Heard was then fouled on a dunk attempt with just :04 on the clock.

Cline-Heard, a 39 percent foul shooter, missed both free throws and the Lions fouled Cook with :03 left. Cook again missed, leaving the Lions one more chance. PSU threw a full length pass to Cline-Heard, who turned and had a clean look at a 15 footer. The shot bounced off the rim as the horn sounded, as the Illini escaped with the win.

GAME 21

Michigan 59
Illinois 75

Feb. 9, 2000

Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

The Illini survived an early game drought to defeat the Michigan Wolverines 75-59 Wednesday night at Assembly Hall.

Michigan built a 12-3 lead eight minutes into the game after holding the Illini to just one field goal, a layup by Frank Williams. Although the UM zone defense was giving Illinois fits, Michigan switched to man and from there the tide started to turn.

That nine point deficit turned into a two point advantage for the Illini in less than seven minutes, with most of the damage being done at the free throw line. The story of the game came when Marcus Griffin checked in during the first half, just 16 days after having arthroscopic surgery on his left knee. Griffin got the fans involved and gave the Illini an inspirational lift, as the hosts took a 34-28 lead into the locker room.

Cory Bradford, who went off for 28 points against the Wolverines in Ann Arbor, continued his hot shooting against the foe. Bradford scored eight of Illinois' first 15 points in the second stanza as the lead grew to double digits.

Michigan cut the lead down to seven with five minutes left but the Illini responded with a crucial 12-1 run, led by seven points from Bradford, to put the game out of reach and move the Illini to 6-4 in Big Ten play.

GAME 22

Iowa 50
Illinois 78

Feb. 12, 2000
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

The Illini made it four wins in a row with a convincing 78-50 victory over Iowa at Assembly Hall.

Iowa scored the first basket for its only lead of the game, and from then on, it was all Illinois. The hosts jumped out to an early ten point lead after Frank Williams' three-point play made it 16-6. Although Cory Bradford was held to just one field goal in the first half, Illinois had balanced scoring from its front line of Lucas Johnson, Brian Cook, and Marcus Griffin, combining for 19 first half points.

Illinois' perimeter defense set the tone, taking Iowa point guard Dean Oliver out of the game and holding the Hawkeyes to just five field goals on 26 percent shooting for the half.

The thirteen point lead grew to 23 when the Illini went on a 14-4 run at the beginning of the second half to take a commanding 46-23 lead. The scoring spurt came via two treys from Bradford, and a pair of baskets each from Cook and Griffin.

Iowa managed to cut the lead down to 12, but again the Illini pushed it back up to 20, with most of the points coming at the free throw line, as the Hawkeyes put Illinois into the bonus with over 11 minutes left in the game.

Iowa could get no closer than 15 points the rest of the way. The final margin of 28 points gave the Illini its largest win over Iowa since a 118-85 victory in 1990.

GAME 23

Illinois 89
Minnesota 80

Feb. 17, 2000
Williams Arena, Minneapolis, Minn.

Illinois extended its winning streak to five games with a 89-80 road victory over Minnesota on Thursday night.

The Illini took their first lead less than three minutes into the game, and held it the entire way, despite a barrage of runs by the Gophers.

Minnesota showed zone throughout the game, and the Illini made them pay by hitting from downtown. Frank Williams hit his first three treys of the game, while Harrington, Bradford, and Johnson each connected with one as Illinois nailed 6-of-14 threes in the first half on the way to a five point lead at halftime.

Minnesota narrowed the deficit to 47-46 early in the second half, but the Illini responded with a 14-4 run, led by two threes from Bradford and solid play from reserve Nate Mast, who was running the point while allowing Williams to rest. Mast had a pair of assists and scored four points in just six minutes of action.

Minnesota trimmed the lead down again, this time to 72-68 with five minutes left. This time Illinois answered with another three by Johnson, and then a steal by Williams, who scored on the breakaway and was fouled for the three point play.

Again the Gophers cut it to four points, 82-78, with 1:12 on the clock. But the Illini made 7-of-8 free throws in the final minute to hold on for the win.

The victory was Illinois' first in Minneapolis since a 94-74 win on Feb. 10, 1991.

GAME 24

Illinois 63
Northwestern 30

Feb. 19, 2000
Welsh-Ryan Arena, Evanston, Ill.

Illinois' winning steak reached six games after a crushing, 63-30 win over Northwestern Saturday night in Evanston.

The Illini dominated every aspect of the game, jumping out to a 23-0 lead from which the Wildcats could not recover. Illinois gave its most inspired defensive effort of the season, holding NU scoreless for over 15 minutes as the hosts missed their first 11 field goal attempts while turning the ball over 15 times.

The Wildcats finally got on the board with 4:47 remaining in the half. The score was 30-6 at the half, with Northwestern managing just two baskets and two free throws. The six points marked NU's fewest points in a half this season, as well as the fewest by an Illini opponent of the year.

The second half was more of the same, with Illinois controlling the game on both ends of the floor. Northwestern closed with a scoring drought similar to the beginning, going the final 9:29 of the game with just four points.

The 30 points were the fewest by an Illini opponent since Jan. 15, 1949, dating back to a 96-30 win over Creighton. It marked the third time in the last fifty years (10th time overall) that Illinois held its opponent to under 40 points.

GAME 25

#16 Indiana 63
Illinois 87

Feb. 22, 2000
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

Illinois saw its winning streak grow to seven in a row after a dominating win over 16th ranked Indiana, 87-63, Tuesday night in Champaign.

Illinois played its best 40 minutes of basketball of the season, scoring at will on offense, and clamping down on A.J. Guyton and company on defense.

The Illini, leading 13-10 seven minutes into the game, exploded on a 19-2 run fueled by the long ball. Cory Bradford had back-to-back threes and Lucas Johnson added another as Illinois scored nine straight points. Two free throws by Frank Williams preceded a pair of thunderous dunks by freshman Brian Cook. A tip in by Damir Krupalija and two free throws by Robert Archibald capped the run and gave Illinois a 20 point lead in a span of just five minutes.

Illinois never looked back from there, dominating the Hoosiers on the offensive boards, and frustrating the league's leading scorer Guyton into a 1-for-5 shooting night and season-low three points. Indiana committed a season high 22 turnovers, and had no answer for Illinois' long range attack.

After Illinois made 7-of-13 three's in the first half, IU surprised many by coming out in a zone in the second stanza. The Illini picked the zone apart with more three-point bombs, connecting on 6-of-14 in the second half. Illinois' 13 treys tied for second all-time for made three's in a game. Cory Bradford led all scorers with 26 points, including five treys.

GAME 26

Illinois 51
#6 Ohio State 64

Feb. 27, 2000
Value City Arena, Columbus, Ohio

Illinois' seven game winning streak was finally halted at the hands of Ohio State on Sunday. The Buckeyes second half defensive effort was the difference, as Illinois fell 64-51.

After falling behind 14-7 ten minutes into the game, Illinois used a barrage of three point bombs to take the lead at half. Brian Cook nailed two and Cory Bradford connected on three treys as Illinois built a 30-25 lead at intermission.

But in the second half the outside shots stopped falling and the inside attack was nullified by OSU's shot blocking machine, center Ken Johnson. Johnson had six blocks in the game and kept the Illini from scoring in the paint. OSU's defense held the Illini to 24 percent shooting in the second half, including a scoring drought of six and a half minutes.

Illinois saw a 38-34 lead turn into an eight point deficit during that scoreless 6:21, as Ohio State went on a 12-0 run. After a Lucas Johnson three cut the deficit to 46-41, the Illini without a point for another three minutes. Meanwhile, OSU put together another run, this time eight unanswered points, to take its biggest lead of the game at 13 points.

Ohio State held a double-digit lead for the remaining seven minutes to preserve the victory.

GAME 27

Northwestern 44
#25 Illinois 73

March 4, 2000
Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

The Illini closed out the regular season with another dominating performance over the Northwestern Wildcats, this time a 29 point victory.

Northwestern scored the first basket of the game, marking the only time in the game the Wildcats would enjoy a lead as Illinois quickly answered with seven straight points. Led by Cory Bradford's 14 first half points, the Illini put together a 16-4 run during the final nine minutes of the half for a 19 point lead. The Wildcats made just six field goals in the half, while committing 13 turnovers.

Northwestern was able to trim the lead down to thirteen early in the second half, but from there the Illini pulled away. Cory Bradford, Marcus Griffin, and Frank Williams combined to score 19 of Illinois' next 21 points as the lead grew to 61-31 thanks to Bradford's fourth three of the game with eight minutes left.

Bradford and Williams were taken out after Bradford's final three and watched the last eight minutes from the sideline. This marked the first game of the season in which both Bradford and Williams each shot over 50 percent from the floor in the same game.

Seniors Victor Chukwudebe and Cleotis Brown, playing in their final home game on Senior Night, scored 2 and 10 points respectively. The victory clinched Illinois fourth place in the Big Ten standings.

#25 Illinois 72

March 10, 2000
United Center, Chicago, Ill.

For the second straight year in conference tournament play, Illinois defeated Indiana in quarterfinal play, this time by the score of 72-69. In a back-and-forth contest that saw ten ties and nine lead changes, Illinois made enough plays down the stretch to put itself in position to win. And with the game on the line, Cory Bradford took it from there.

It took 39 minutes and 58.7 seconds for Bradford to extend his streak of made three pointers. In a game deadlocked at 69 all with less than a minute left, Illinois' defense forced Indiana center Kirk Haston to fire up a three with the shot clock winding down. After the miss, Illinois called timeout with seven seconds left to diagram the play.

Illinois was supposed to get the ball in to Frank Williams and let him create and either shoot or pass. But Indiana elected not to guard the inbound pass, and instead denied Williams the ball by double teaming him. Kruger quickly improvised, directing Sergio McClain to throw into Brian Cook and immediately get the ball back. McClain did, and he drove hard to the basket once the ball was returned to him. Indiana's defense was beaten, so they had no choice but to collapse towards McClain under the basket. Sergio kicked it out to a wide-open Bradford, who drilled the game winning three-pointer with 1.3 left, his first three of the game which extended his streak to 60 straight games with a made three-pointer, and more importantly advanced Illinois to the semifinals.

GAME 29

Penn State 84
#25 Illinois 94

March 11, 2000
United Center, Chicago, Ill.

Illinois showcased its best offensive game of the season against the Nittany Lions, defeating Penn State by 10 and advancing to the championship game of the Big Ten Tournament.

Brian Cook, Marcus Griffin, and Damir Krupalija did the damage on the inside, combining for 37 points and 18 rebounds. The guards were also clicking, as Cory Bradford, Frank Williams and Sergio McClain combined for 38 points. Williams had a field day against PSU, knifing through the defense for 16 points on 6-of-8 shooting, as well as adding six assists and six rebounds.

Illinois was hot from three-point land, hitting 50 percent from behind the arc. The Illini went on a number of runs during the game to widen the margin. A 15-4 run midway through the second half turned a five-point Illini lead into a comfortable 37-21 advantage.

Although PSU managed to trim the deficit to six before halftime, Illinois pushed the margin back up to 13 less than five minutes into the second half. The Illini had a double-digit lead the rest of the way, peaking at 22 points (80-58) with 6:46 remaining.

Illinois shot an amazing 60 percent for the game, including 74 percent accuracy (17-23) in the second half. It was the first time the Illini shot 60 percent or better in a game since 1995.

#5 Michigan State 76

March 12, 2000
United Center, Chicago, Ill.

Illinois and Michigan State met for the title in a rematch of the 1999 championship game. And unfortunately for the Illini, the results mirrored the previous meeting as the Spartans worked their way to a 15-point victory.

Illinois hung tight in the early going, taking the lead on three separate occasions, capitalized by a Cleotis Brown break-away dunk for a 16-15 lead. But with seven minutes left in the first half, Cory Bradford had his nose broken after being hit with an inadvertent elbow in the lane. Bradford was out for the rest of the half, and the Illini offense seemed to sputter.

Meanwhile, MSU went on a 9-2 run to take control at 24-18. A last-second three by Cleotis Brown cut the halftime Spartan lead to eight.

Bradford returned to the lineup in the second half, but it was not enough to counter Illinois' poor shooting or slow down the Spartans, who built the lead up to 16 points (55-39) after back-to-back threes by Mateen Cleaves.

Illinois tried pressing and fouling at the end, but could never get the deficit below 10 points. The Illini shot just 31 percent for the game, their second lowest FG percentage of the season.

Frank Williams led the way with 11 points for the Illini, while Bradford and Brown were in double figures with 10 points each.

GAME 31

#19 Illinois 68
Pennsylvania 58

March 17, 2000

Laurence Joel Coliseum, Winston-Salem, N.C.

Frank Williams scored 21 points and Marcus Griffin added a double-double as fourth-seeded Illinois beat the Ivy League champions 68-58 in the first round of the East Regional.

Griffin scored 17 points and grabbed 10 rebounds off the bench. The junior made 7 of 12 shots. Williams made 6 of 9 shots, including three three-pointers. Lucas Johnson added 10 points.

Illinois held Penn star Michael Jordan to eight points. Jordan was the Ivy League Player of the Year.

The first half featured runs by both teams. Illinois broke ahead early with a 16-0 burst for an 18-8 lead with 11:58 left. The Illini made eight of their first nine shots. Penn answered with an 8-0 run that brought the Quakers to within four with 1:36 remaining. Griffin and Williams combined for 21 of the UI's first 34 first-half points.

Penn cut the Illini to one point at 38-37 with 16:58 remaining before Williams drove to the basket for a layup that started a critical 6-0 run that put Illinois ahead 44-37 with 14:58 remaining.

GAME 32

Florida 93
#19 Illinois 76

March 19, 2000

Laurence Joel Coliseum, Winston-Salem, N.C.

Florida advanced to the Sweet 16 with a 93-76 victory over the Illini. Mike Miller paced four Gators in double figures with 19 points to go with nine rebounds in the victory. Florida's reserves poured in 37 points, including 16 from back-up guard Brett Nelson.

The fifth-seeded Gators converted half of their 18 three-pointers. The fourth-seeded Illini hit only nine of 28 from beyond the arc.

Florida was equally impressive from the foul line, where it connected on 32 of 41 attempts to just 15 of 22 for Illinois.

Florida's defense held Illinois to just 39 percent shooting, while the Gators shot 48 percent from the field. With Illinois trailing by nine with 11:34 remaining, Frank Williams was called for his fourth foul and had to go to the bench. Florida immediately scored five points to go to take a 67-54 lead. Illinois never cut the lead to single digits the remainder of the way.

Cory Bradford led the Illini with 27 points, hitting five of 15 three pointers. Sergio McClain was the only other Illini to score in double digits with 11 points.

The loss came to a school in which Lon Kruger had taken to the Final Four during his six-year stay in Gainesville during the 1994 season.

Head Coach Elwood Brown (1 year, 6-8, .429)

Leo Hana was put in charge of building the basketball program at Illinois after a women's program had existed for years. A team, led by its playing captain Roy Riley, beat Champaign High School Jan. 6, two weeks before Hana was able to replace Riley with a "professional" coach. Elwood Brown became Illinois' first basketball coach Jan. 20, 1906, and proceeded to turn in a commendable coaching job, especially since the squad lost two of its mainstays during the season. "The results of the season were on the whole satisfactory. In the future, there will not be such a lack of material as hampered the coach (Brown) this season," wrote the 1907 Illio.

Head Coach F.L. Pinckney (1 year, 1-10, .090)

Pinckney took over the coaching reins for a year in 1907. There was promise for a good season after the solid start the program had made in 1906. More than 100 men tried out for the team. Pinckney found at least three freshman he thought would help the team and placed them on the varsity squad. However, the Western Conference Committee declared the three ineligible, leaving Pinckney with a much depleted team and Illinois with its worst record ever. The decision to make the freshmen ineligible gave Pinckney the same problem Brown faced the year before - turning out a winning team with limited talent.

Head Coach Fletcher Lane (1 year, 20-6, .769)

Fletcher Lane's all-time best winning percentage among Illinois coaches is misleading, since he only coached for one year. His 20-6 team of 1908 benefited from a long Southern trip in which the team beat several YMCA and club teams from Tennessee, Texas, Alabama, and Georgia. The club was billed as a closely-knit group, due in part to the long trip. The players, however, did not appear to appreciate Lane's coaching style. M.G. Dadant, the 1908 captain wrote, "Handicapped as they were by the lack of any competent coaching, the players went through the season in perfect harmony, each one relinquishing any personal feelings that the team might be better as a whole."

Head Coach H.V. Juul (2 years, 12-10, .545)

H. V. Juul became the first Illinois basketball coach to stay for more than one year. He also became the first former Fighting Illini player to head the Illinois basketball program and was captain of the 1907 squad. After leading Illinois to a 12-10 record over two years, he departed to become a professional baseball player, enjoying stints with the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds. Juul was the son of a former Illinois

Congressman and, prior to his death in 1928, was a committeeman in the 35th Ward in Chicago as well as campaign director for the Republican Party headquarters at the Morrison Hotel in Chicago.

Head Coach T.E. Thompson (2 years, 14-14, .500)

T. E. Thompson also had a two-year career as head basketball coach at Illinois, compiling a 14-14 record. Thompson claimed, at the time, to be the only player in Western Conference history to have played five years of collegiate basketball. He was at Northwestern for one year before playing at Illinois for four additional seasons. In addition to his duties as basketball coach at Illinois in 1911-12, he also served as Athletic Director George Huff's only assistant in the athletic department, doubling as the school's general manager of athletics and as ticket manager. After leaving the university, he founded The Thomas Thompson Company in Highland Park, Ill., a manufacturer of enamel products.

Head Coach Ralph Jones (8 years, 85-34, .714)

After arriving at Illinois from Purdue, Ralph Jones left an impressive legacy behind in Champaign. Besides coaching freshman football and baseball during his tenure at Illinois, he was credited by some with originating the fast break in basketball. After leading the Fighting Illini to one outright crown and the sharing of one other conference championship, Jones left to coach at Wabash and eventually Lake Forest Academy.

In addition, Jones was head coach of the Chicago Bears from 1930-33, where, among other achievements, he was credited with the revival of the T-formation, and the use of a man in motion to throw off the defense.

Head Coach Frank Winters (2 years, 25-12, .676)

While in his two-year stint as coach of the Illinois basketball team, Frank Winters was faced with having only a handful of veteran players available and was forced into installing an entirely new system of play. His 25-12 record in two years was a testament to the way Winters made negatives into positives. Upon arriving as head coach in the fall of 1920, he inherited a team whose best player, Chuck Carney, had just severely injured his knee in the last football game. Nonetheless, the team went on to an 11-7 record and improved to 14-5 in the 1922 campaign.

Head Coach J. Craig Ruby (14 years, 148-95, .609)

J. Craig Ruby was known as one of the great basketball tacticians of his time. He and legendary Kansas coach Phog Allen actively campaigned together for higher baskets to offset the advantage of tall centers. Ruby alone advocated the elimination of the dribble to do away with stalling, and wanted the hoop enlarged to 20 inches in diameter rather than the standard 18. Ruby's second season at Illinois produced a tie for the Big Ten championship in 1924, but it was not until 1935 that he could lead his team to tie for top conference honors again.

Head Coach Douglas R. Mills (11 years, 151-66, .696)

Doug Mills was not only an extremely successful basketball coach at Illinois, but one of the University's most prolific and long-standing administrators. He began his association with Fighting Illini athletics as a standout in both football and basketball in the late 1920s. Mills became the first Illinois head basketball coach to lead his squad to three Big Ten crowns. Also included in his 11-year coaching tenure was the formation of the legendary "Whiz Kids" team of 1942 and '43. That team won back-to-back Big Ten crowns. After retiring from the coaching ranks in 1947, Mills retained his position as athletic director until 1966.

Head Coach Harry Combes (20 years, 316-150, .678)

Harry Combes only had to move across town after accepting the job as head coach at Illinois. Prior to joining the Illini, he had been head coach at Champaign High School where he posted an astounding 254-46 record, including winning the state title in 1946. Once at Illinois he won three Big Ten titles in his first five seasons ('49, '51 and '52). It was also Combes who led the Fighting Illini to three third-place finishes in the NCAA Tournament in the four-year period from 1949-52. The squad won 79 of the 100 games during those four years. Illinois' 1952 Final Four appearance was the first officially recognized Final Four and the only Final Four appearance Illinois made until 1989. Until Lou Henson broke the record in 1990, Combes' 316 wins were the most wins ever by an Illinois head basketball coach.

Head Coach Harv Schmidt (7 years, 89-77, .536)

Harv Schmidt, a former all-time great player at Illinois, returned to his alma mater in 1968 after serving as an assistant at New Mexico for three years. Within three years of his arrival, he had brought Illinois back to among the elite programs in the Big Ten. The beginning of his tenure marked what possibly was the high-water mark in fan enthusiasm. Illinois led the nation in attendance in 1970, averaging 16,128 per home contest, as students routinely camped out for tickets outside the newly opened, state-of-the-art Assembly Hall.

Year-by-Year Records ILLINOIS

Head Coach Gene Bartow (1 year, 8-18, .308)

Brought to Illinois to continue the magical rebuilding jobs he had undertaken at Valparaiso and Memphis State, Gene Bartow was counted on by Athletic Director Cecil Coleman to restore the successful level of play fans had become accustomed to in the past few decades. However, Bartow's stay in Champaign was short-lived, lasting only one year and producing an 8-18 record. The lure away from Illinois was a strong one for Bartow; he was hired away by UCLA to replace legendary Bruin coach John Wooden.

Head Coach Lou Henson (21 years, 423-224, .654)

Lou Henson, the all-time winningest coach in Illinois basketball history, came to Champaign-Urbana after successful head coaching stints at Hardin-Simmons and New Mexico State Universities. He finished his career No. 12 on the NCAA all-time victory list with 663 wins. Illinois became a national power under Henson, being selected to the NCAA tournament 11 times. The highlight of the postseason competition came in 1989 when the spectacular Flying Illini team won a school-record 31 contests and advanced to the Final Four. Henson's Illini were also seeded among the top four in their regional for six consecutive years (1984-89) for the second-longest such streak (next to North Carolina) ever. Illinois finished in the upper division in the Big Ten nine consecutive seasons (1983-91), and had 11 straight years of producing a plus-500 Big Ten record from 1981 to 1991, the fifth-longest streak of that kind in Big Ten history. Henson led the Illini to a 1984 Big Ten co-championship and No. 1 national ranking in 1989. He coached Illinois to nine straight 20-win seasons from 1983 to 1991 and finished his career as the third-winningest coach in Big Ten history with 214 victories.

Year-by-Year Records

Head Coach Lon Kruger (4 years, 81-48, .628)

Lon Kruger was named the 14th men's basketball coach at the University of Illinois on March 21, 1996, succeeding Lou Henson, who retired after 21 seasons at Illinois. Kruger came to Champaign-Urbana after six seasons at Florida, where he led the Gators to their first Final Four in 1994. His previous head coaching experience includes a four-year stint at his alma mater Kansas State (1987-90) and at Pan American (1983-86). In 1998, Kruger led the Illini to a share of the Big Ten championship, the school's first since 1984. He guided Illinois to NCAA Tournament appearances in 1997, 1998 and 2000. Kruger left Illinois to become the head coach of the NBA's Atlanta Hawks.

Illinois Tradition

Over the course of 95 years, the University of Illinois has enjoyed the creation of a stellar basketball tradition that includes Final Four appearances, All-Americans, Academic All-Americans, NBA first-round draft selections, and a place among the nation's elite basketball programs year-in and year-out. The University of Illinois basketball tradition got its start when the Big Ten Conference, officially began playing basketball in 1906. At the time the member schools of the "Intercollegiate Conference of Faculty Representatives", or "Western Conference", or "Big Ten Conference" as it was known were University of Chicago, University of Illinois, University of Michigan, University of Minnesota, Northwestern University, Purdue University, and the University of Wisconsin.

• Big Ten grows to eight teams with the addition of Iowa in the 1907 season.

The new decade brought the program an extended taste of success. In the 1910s Illinois won two Big Ten titles, in 1915 and 1917, and compiled a 95-48 record including a perfect 16-0 record in 1915. That 1915 season was the third in the eight-year tenure of head coach Ralph Jones and it produced the only unbeaten season in Illini history and the first Big Ten title for the Illinois basketball program. Following the perfect season the Illinois team was named national champions by the Helms Foundation. Jones' 1915 team scored twice as many points as its opponents and won the conference title by three games over Chicago.

The arrival of the Woods brothers in 1915 had a lot to do with the success of this era. Guard Ray Woods was named first-team All-America all three years he competed (1915-17), and brother Ralf, a forward, led the team in scoring in both 1916 and 1917. His consistency at the free throw line led to the establishment of the Ralf Woods Award, which is still given annually to the Fighting Illini player with the best free-throw percentage.

Illinois followed up its conference championship season with a second-place finish after posting a 13-3 record. The Illini dropped two games to Northwestern and one to eventual champion Wisconsin, but the first loss to the Wildcats was the Illini's first-ever overtime game as Northwestern scored two points in the overtime period to beat Illinois, 23-21, Feb. 12, 1916, at what is now the Kenney Gym Annex.

In 1918, Jones and the Illini picked up their second conference championship crown in three years as Illinois went 13-3 overall and 10-2 in league games. The 1917 team featured a starting guard named George Halas. The professional football pioneer and former Chicago Bear owner and head coach was known on the team for his gritty defense and he was named captain of the 1918 squad before entering the armed forces Jan. 18, 1918.

• Big Ten grows to nine teams with addition of Ohio State in the 1913 season.

• Big Ten grows to 10 teams with addition of Michigan in the 1918 season.

1920-29 (99-68)

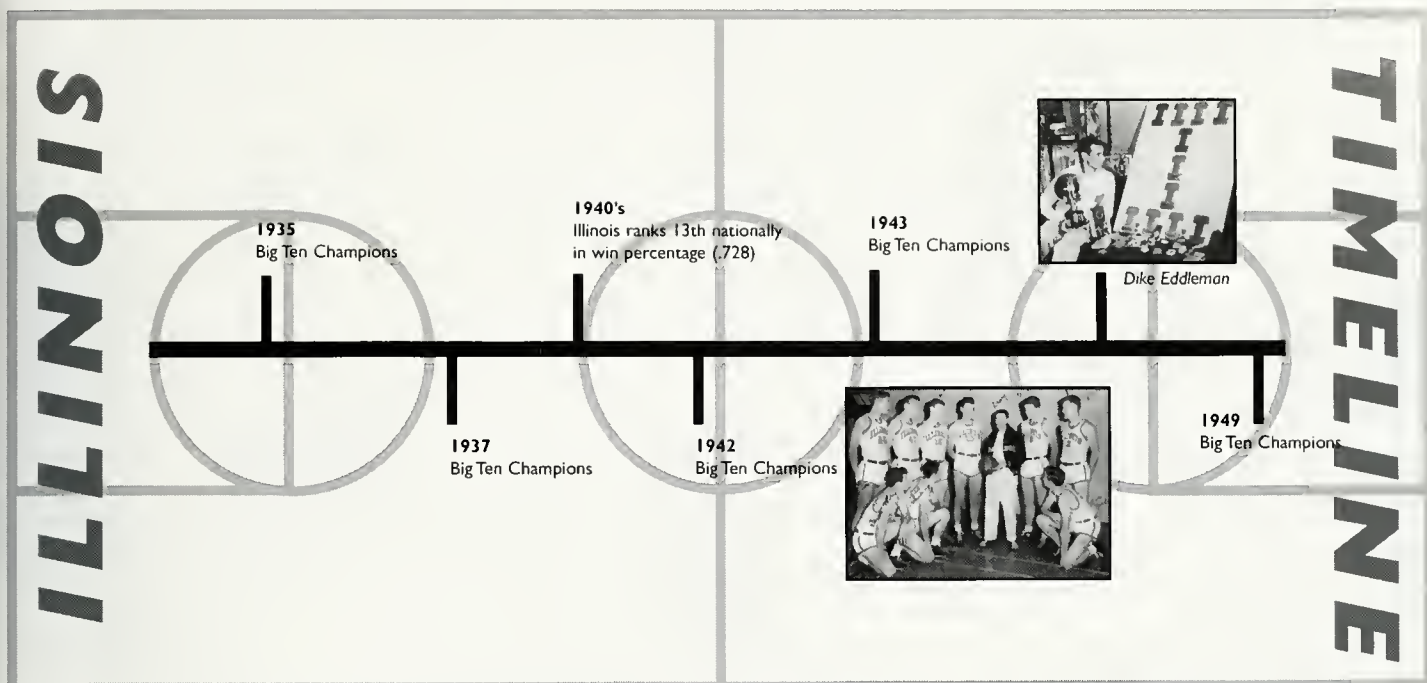

Jones led the Illini into the decade of the 1920s and started off this period with a 9-4 record and a third-place finish in the Big Ten in 1920. The following season a new mentor, Frank Winters, was in Champaign-Urbana and his two-year stay produced an 11-7 mark in 1921 and a 14-5 record in 1922.

Illinois Athletic Director George Huff replaced Winters with J. Craig Ruby, whose 14-year tenure at Illinois is the third longest in program history. In his first three seasons, Ruby led the Illini to a 31-18 record and a share of the conference title with Wisconsin in 1924. In 1924, Illinois was 11-6 overall and 8-4 in the Big Ten.

After winning Illinois' third conference title in 1924, Ruby's Illini matched the win mark the following year (11-6, 8-4) but dropped to third

1906-1909 (34-30)

The first official game in Illinois history was a 71-4 romp over Champaign High School in Urbana on Jan. 12, 1906. The first four years of Illinois hoops saw four different coaches who combined for a 34-30 record. In the first season of Illinois basketball the Illini went 6-8, 3-6 in the Big Ten under head coach Elwood Brown. The following season the Illini's record dropped to 1-10, 0-8 under F.L. Pickney. A new coach, Fletcher Lane, and a new season arrived in 1907-08 and the Illini posted a 20-8 record and went 6-5 in the conference. Despite a successful season, the Illini underwent its fourth coaching change in as many years and new mentor Herb V. Juul stayed two seasons (1909 and 1910) and was 7-6 his inaugural year and 5-4 the next season.

place in the standings. The Illini opened the 1926 season on Dec. 12, 1925, against Butler in the newly built Men's Gymnasium, which would later be renamed George Huff Gymnasium after Illinois Athletic Director George Huff. Illinois won its first game at the new gym, 23-22. The remainder of the decade saw Illinois go 10-7 in both 1927 and 1929 taking fourth and fifth in the league standings, and 9-8 in 1926. The only losing season in Ruby's Illinois career came with a 5-12 mark in 1928 and it is one of only 12 losing seasons in the University's 95-year history.

In the decade of the 1930s Illinois picked up Big Ten championships number four and five in 1935 and 1937. In 1935 the Illini squad was 5-3 after its first eight games, but rallied in the closing stretch of the season and won its last four contests to grab a share of the conference title.

A new star on the playing floor emerged in the 1935 season with the addition of Harry Combes to the roster. Combes, a three-year letterwinner, starred for the Illini from 1935-37 and later returned to his alma mater as head coach of the Illini in 1948. Combes helped lead Illinois to both its Big Ten titles in the 1930s.

Ruby closed out his coaching tenure in 1935-36 leading Illinois to a 13-6 record, 7-5 in the Big Ten, and third place in the league standings.

The man chosen to replace Ruby was Douglas Mills. In his 11-year tenure as head coach, Mills established himself as the first coach in Illinois history to win or share three Big Ten championships.

In his first season, 1936-37, Mills' Illini squad captured a share of the Big Ten championship with a 10-2 league record. The Illini were 14-4 overall. Following that season, the men's gymnasium got a new name, George Huff Gymnasium, after former Illinois athletic director George Huff, who passed away on Oct. 1, 1936. During the championship season, future major league baseball Hall of Famer Lou Boudreau led the team in scoring with 8.7 points per game.

1940-49 (150-56)

The decade of the 1940s brought much success to Illinois basketball. Head Coach Doug Mills led the Illini to consecutive Big Ten titles in 1942 and 1943. The Illini would add another league championship under Harry Combes in 1949.

The Illini were the 13th-winningest Division I team in the nation in the 1940s. Illinois' 150-57 record and .725 winning percentage was the best in the Big Ten. In 1941, Mills added to his coaching duties when he was named the school's director of athletics. That same year Art Mathisen arrived in Champaign in what would soon become the creation of the famed "Whiz Kids." In 1942, joining Mathisen were Jack Smiley, Andy Phillip, Gene Vance and Ken Menke, who captured the attention of the entire nation while winning back-to-back conference titles and combining for a 35-6 record, 25-2 in the Big Ten over those two seasons. To this day the "Whiz Kids" remain one of the most storied teams in Illinois history. They dazzled crowds everywhere averaging 58 points per game, while most teams were averaging in the low 40s.

The team was broken up March 1, 1943, when all five starters headed to active duty in the armed forces. All but Mathisen went on the play professionally, and Phillip became a member of the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.

After the departure of the Whiz Kids, Mills faced a major rebuilding job. Mills closed out his time as head coach at Illinois in the 1947 season. That mark coincided with the return of the "Whiz Kids" from military service. A crowd of 7,785, the largest home crowd to that point in Illinois history, jammed into Huff Gym to see their return on Dec. 6, 1946, against Cornell. The Whiz Kids played only the first half of the game in building a 49-13 lead, and the Illini won 87-39. The Illini opened league play with two losses and dug their way back to a second-place finish by winning eight of their last 10 games.

After retiring from coaching, Mills retained his position as athletic director until 1966.

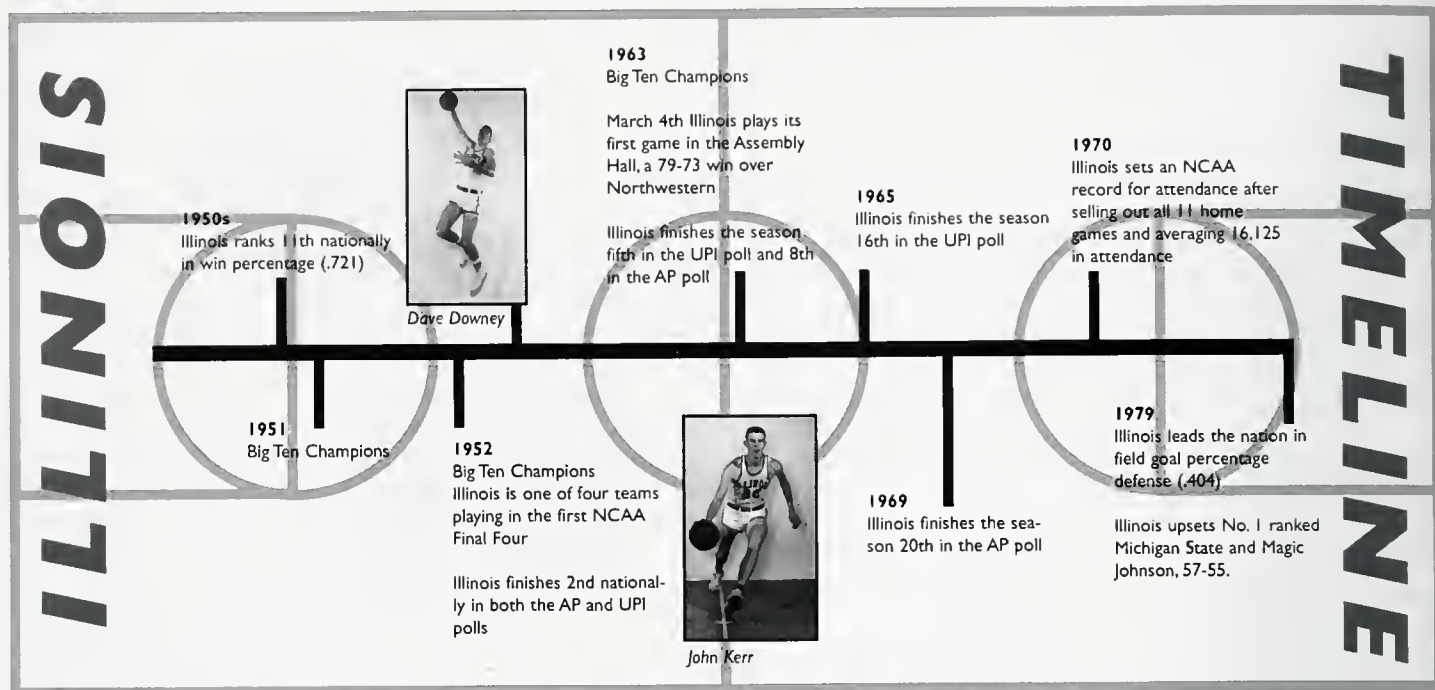

Former Illini Harry Combes was re-associated with the program when he was selected to replace Mills as head coach of the Fighting Illini. He had previously served as head coach at Champaign High School. In his first nine seasons at Illinois, he won three Big Ten titles and compiled an amazing record of 164-44 overall (.788) and 94-30 in the Big Ten (.758).

Combes first team at Illinois in 1947-48, led by Dike Eddleman and Jack Burmaster, set a Big Ten scoring record with 1,530 points, en route to a 15-5 overall record and 7-5 league finish. His second year as head coach, Combes collected his first of four Big Ten championships as a head coach. He finished his Illinois career with a total of six championships as a player and coach.

The four-year period between 1949-52 brought the University of Illinois three Big Ten championships, three 20-win seasons, and a 42-

10 Big Ten mark. The 1949 squad, led by Eddleman, Bill Erickson, and Walter Osterkorn, was Illinois' first 20-game winner since 1908, finishing 21-4. That year, Illinois beat Yale, 71-67, to advance to a national semifinal showdown with Kentucky at Madison Square Garden in New York City. The Illini fell to the Wildcats, 76-47, forcing Illinois to defeat Oregon State, 57-53, in Seattle for third place.

- Big Ten drops from 10 to nine teams with the departure of Chicago from the league in 1947.

1950-59 (165-64)

Two of the first three years in this decade saw Illinois bring home Big Ten championships. Illinois won the title in 1951 with a 13-1 league record and produced another 20-win season with a 22-5 record. That season featured a rematch with Kentucky, which had downed the Illini in the national semifinals in 1949. Illinois beat Columbia, 79-71, and North Carolina State, 84-70, to get to the national semifinals and a rematch with the Wildcats. In a heart-breaking loss, Kentucky nipped Illinois, 76-74, on a shot by Wildcat sub Shelby Linville with 12 seconds remaining in the game. The Illini collected third place nationally by beating Oklahoma A&M, 61-46, in Minneapolis.

The 1952 season brought Illinois another Big Ten title and introduced John Kerr, a center from Tilden Tech in Chicago. He began his three-year reign as Illinois' top scorer with a sophomore-record 357 points. The Illini recorded a 22-4 overall mark and went 12-2 in the conference. Once again, Illinois advanced to the national semifinals and ran into underdog St. John's. The Redmen fought their way to a 61-59 victory in the NCAA's first Final Four, in Seattle. Illinois took another third-place award home after beating Santa Clara, 67-64, behind 26 points by Kerr.

The 1954 season was highlighted when Kerr shattered Illinois' single-season scoring record by tallying 556 points in his senior year. Kerr's 1,299 career points in three seasons currently rank 14th on the all-time Illinois scoring list. He held first place in Illini career scoring until Dave Downey passed him in 1963. After his Illinois career came to an end, Kerr started a 12-year professional career and then became the first head coach of the Chicago Bulls in 1966.

Once again the Illini hoopsters led the Big Ten in wins for a decade with a 165-64 record in the 1950s. The Illini's winning percentage, .721, ranked 11th nationally. On Dec. 17, 1956, Illinois defeated San Francisco, 62-33, snapping the Dons' 51-game regular-season win streak. Associated Press began its basketball poll in 1949 with UPI adding its poll in 1951 and from 1951-56 the Illini finished the season ranked in the Top 20 nationally every year. Illinois' highest final ranking in the 1950s was second in both polls in 1952.

- Big Ten grows to 10 teams with addition of Michigan State in the 1951 season.

The 1960s produced Big Ten championship No. 11 for Illinois in 1963. That season the Illini were 20-6 overall, 11-3 in the conference. Senior

Dave Downey led the team in scoring as he had the previous two seasons and he moved into first on the all-time scoring list. Downey also set the school record for points in a game, which still stands, with 53 in a road loss to Indiana on Feb. 16, 1963.

Illinois was a game back of first place in the league standings with only two games remaining when the Assembly Hall opened its doors on March 4, 1963. Illinois' first game at the Hall was an exciting 79-73 victory over Northwestern before 16,137 fans to stay within a game of first-place Ohio State. After Illinois edged Iowa, 73-69, in the last game of the season, the Fighting Illini would need an overtime loss two hours later by the Buckeyes at Indiana to share the title.

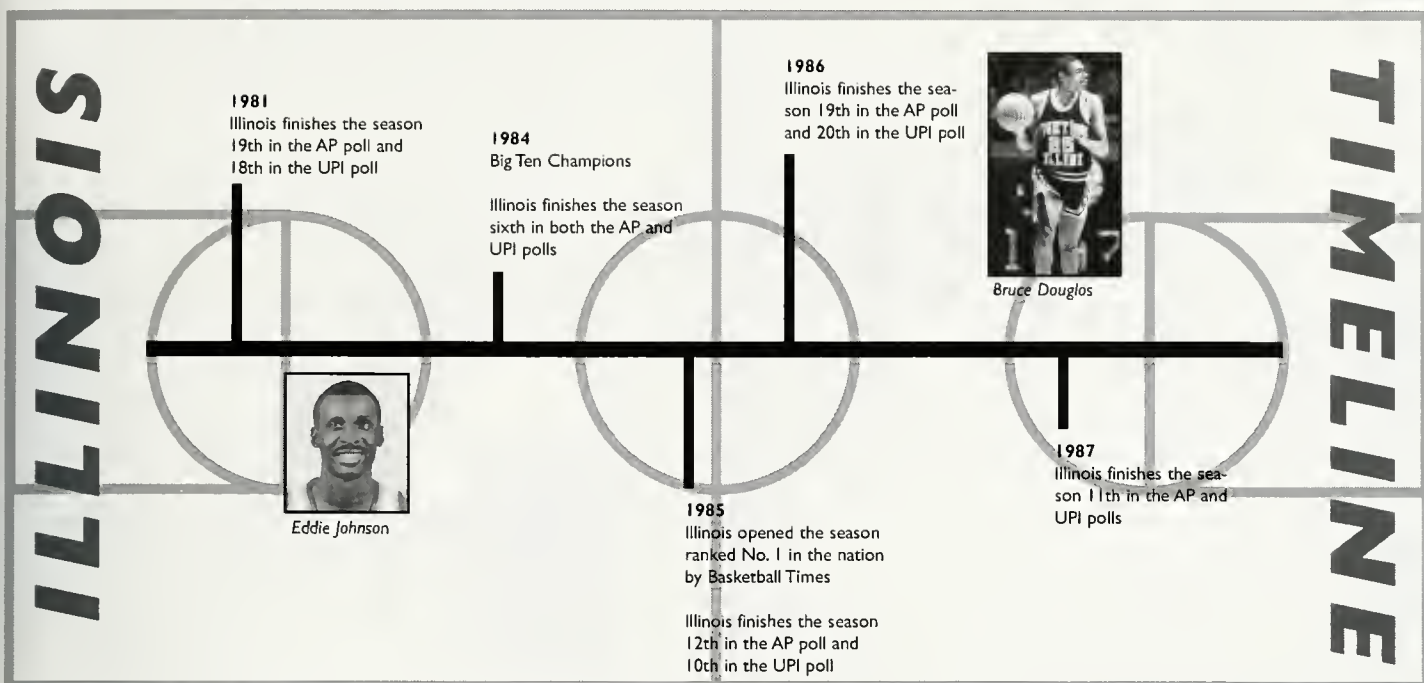

The 1965 season was highlighted by Illinois' season opening 118-83 victory over defending national-champion UCLA at the Assembly Hall. Combes called the game, "one of the best an Illinois team has ever played."

Combes closed out his Illini coaching career in 1967 with a 12-12 record and seventh-place Big Ten finish. The season was highlighted by a 98-97 victory over No. 3 Kentucky in Lexington on Dec. 8.

Another former Illini, Harv Schmidt, replaced Combes and led the team into the 1970s. Schmidt's Illini went 11-13 in 1968 and rebounded to a 19-5 record in 1969 and a second-place Big Ten finish.

1970-79 (129-129)

The decade of the 1970s brought two coaching changes, the second one brought Lou Henson, who would become the longest-tenured coach in Illinois history. In 1970, Illinois set an NCAA attendance record, selling out all 11 home games for an average of 16,128 fans per game.

Although the Illini recorded a losing mark in 1971 (11-12), that season welcomed Nick Weatherspoon from Canton, Ohio. "Spoon" stepped right into the starting lineup and led the team in rebounds. The next two years he led the team in scoring and rebounding before becoming a first-round draft selection and spending eight seasons in the NBA.

Harv Schmidt concluded his Illinois coaching career in 1974 as the Illini's record dropped to 5-18 and last place in the Big Ten standings. The following season, Gene Bartow served as head coach, but left to take the head coaching job in replacing the legendary John Wooden at UCLA after only one season. After Bartow's departure following the 1975 campaign, the University picked New Mexico State Head Coach Lou Henson to bring success back to the Illinois program. He did just that, taking a team that won 14 games in his inaugural season to a 19-11 record within just four years. The last years of the 1970s signaled the arrival of Eddie Johnson and Mark Smith, two players who would lead the team into the 1980s and pave the way for Illinois' return to national prominence.

In 1979, Illinois finished seventh in the Big Ten, but went 19-11 overall, including ascension to No. 2 in the national polls after starting the year 15-0. That year, Illinois upset top-ranked Michigan State and Magic Johnson, 57-55, in one of the school's most memorable games. That year, Illinois also led the nation in field-goal percentage defense (.404).

Henson returned everyone for the 1980 campaign and the team gave the head coach his first of 11, 20-win seasons at Illinois. That year, Illinois made its first postseason appearance since 1963, finishing third in the NIT.

In 1981, Illinois made more strides in its return to the national spotlight with a 21-8 record, a third-place Big Ten finish and an invitation to the NCAA Tournament. The team received a first-round bye in the NCAA Tournament and beat Wyoming, 67-65, in Los Angeles to advance to the regionals in Salt Lake City, where Illinois lost to Kansas State, 57-52.

That year, the Fighting Illini led the Big Ten in scoring for the second consecutive season and were again led by Johnson and Smith. Guards Craig Tucker and Derek Harper arrived to add backcourt punch, and Harper began his Illini career being named First-Team Freshman All-America by ESPN and ABC.

The 1982 season brought Illinois another post-season appearance, in the NIT, and an 18-11 record. Harper led the Big Ten in assists and steals.

One of Illinois' best groups arrived on campus in 1983. Guards Bruce Douglas and Doug Altenberger, and forward Scott Meents and Efrem Winters joined sophomores George Montgomery and Anthony Welch to form the nucleus for a team that would win 95 games during the next four seasons.

In 1983, the Fighting Illini became the nation's 25th team to cap the 1,000-win mark with a 72-70 victory over Texas A&M in the Great Alaska Shootout. Later that year, Harper was selected First-Team All-Big Ten, falling one vote shy of being a unanimous pick, before leaving school early for the NBA draft. He was a first round selection of the Dallas Mavericks as the first pick in franchise history.

The 1984 season brought Illinois its 12th Big Ten championship in a season where Illinois had four overtime games including an epic four-overtime 75-66 victory over Michigan. The next game was a two-overtime win at Iowa, Henson's 400th victory as a college head coach. The Illini recorded a 26-5 mark and were 15-3 in Big Ten play, tying Purdue for the league title. The 1984 season also marked Illinois' first back-to-back 20 win seasons since 1951-52. The Illini would go on to record a total of nine consecutive 20-win seasons from 1983-91. Illinois advance to the NCAA Regional Finals before dropping a heart-breaking 54-51 loss to Kentucky on its home court causing the NCAA to put a rule in place not allowing a school to play in a tournament game on its home court.

The Illini started out the 1985 season ranked No. 1 nationally by Basketball Times in its pre-season poll. Illinois made a return trip to the NCAA Tournament where the Illini advanced to the Sweet 16.

From 1984-87, Illinois' stingy defense ranked first in the Big Ten allowing only 54.9 points in 1984, 55.7 in 1985, 63.3 in 1986, and 70.2 in 1987. During that same 1984-87 period, Illinois also ranked first in field goal defense, and the Illini were first in three-point defense in 1987.

Junior college transfer Ken Norman highlighted the 1986 season as he set the school record for single-season field-goal percentage (.641). The next season saw the addition of an outstanding group of young players to the roster. Guards Steve Bardo, Kendall Gill and Larry Smith joined forward Nick Anderson in a highly touted recruiting class. This group produced another 20-win season (23-8) and a trip to the NCAA Tournament, where Illinois was beaten 68-67 by Austin Peay in arguably the school's most shocking upset.

The 1988 season brought Henson his 500th career victory and laid the foundation for what would be an incredible history making season in 1989. The 1989 team may very well have been the most talented team ever assembled at Illinois. The players known as the "Flying Illini," included all the important pieces of 1988 (Kenny Battle, Gill, Bardo, Lowell Hamilton, Anderson and Smith) as well as junior college All-American P.J. Bowman and former high school All-American Marcus Liberty.

The team shattered most of its all-time records including points in a season (3,110), most steals in a season (341), and most wins in a season (31). The Fighting Illini won their first 16 games and were ranked No. 2 in the nation going into a nationally televised game against Georgia Tech, whom Illinois had already beaten, 80-75, at the Rainbow Classic in December. The Yellow Jackets led, 47-31, but Illinois managed to surge back to force overtime, eventually needing two extra periods to win the game. Along with the No. 1 ranking the next day came some bad news. Illinois' catalyst, Gill, had broken a bone in his foot and would miss the next 12 games. Hurt by the loss of Gill, Illinois lost three of the next four games and its No. 1 ranking. The Illini rallied to finish second in the Big Ten with a 14-4 record and with Gill back in the lineup, the Illini were awarded a No. 1 seed in the Midwest Region of the NCAA Tournament. After rolling to victories over McNeese State and Ball State at the Hoosier Dome, a power-packed regional in Minneapolis with Missouri, Louisville and Syracuse, stood in the way of Illinois' trip to the Final Four.

Louisville fell victim to Illinois, losing 83-69, which set up a regional final matchup with Syracuse. The Fighting Illini held off Syracuse to advance to the Final Four in Seattle where Illinois faced Michigan, a team it had beat twice already in 1989, in the national semifinals. Despite Battle's 29-point, 11-rebound effort, Illinois fell to eventual national-champion Michigan, 83-81.

Coming off the Final Four season, Illinois went 21-8 overall, 11-7 in the Big Ten in 1990. Gill, a senior, became the first player since Norman in 1987 to average 20 ppg and he was named a First-Team All-American by UPI. Gill led the Big Ten in scoring and was a finalist for the John Wooden Player of the Year Award. He was the fifth overall pick in the NBA draft that summer, going to the Charlotte Hornets.

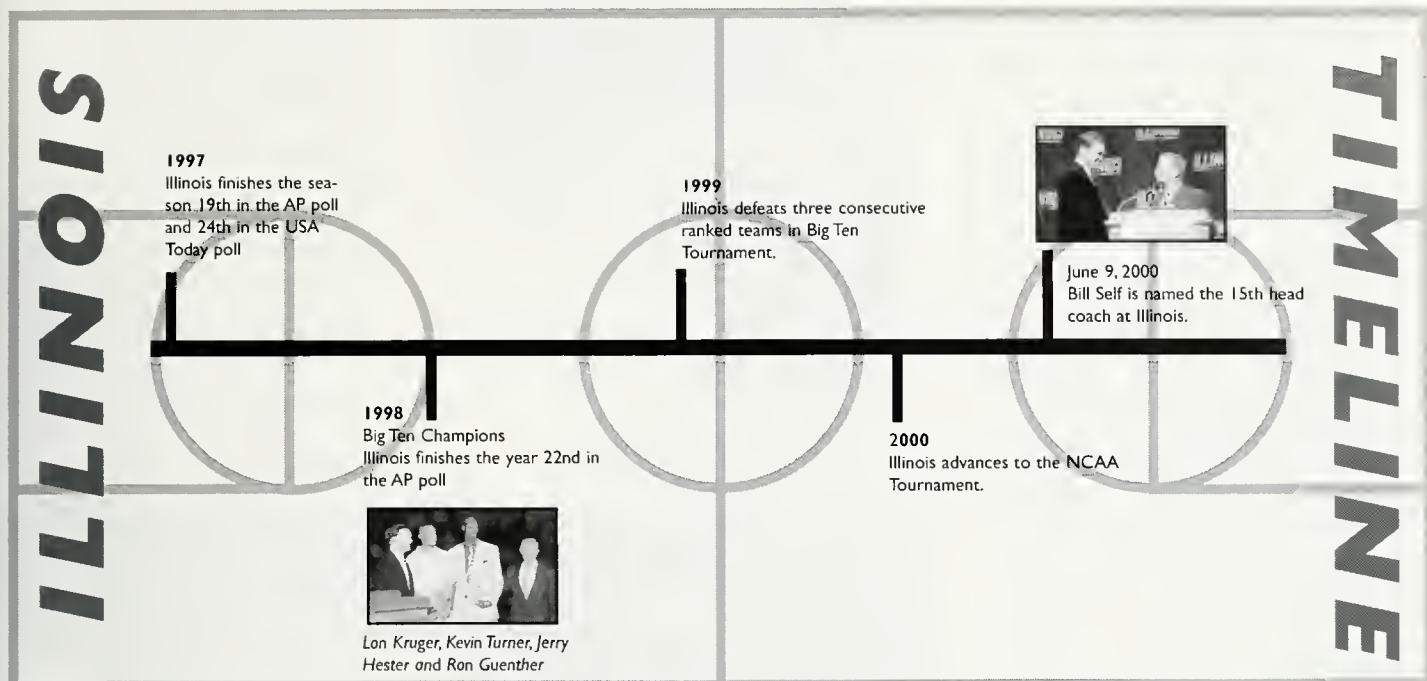

Entering the 1991 season, Illinois, faced with the loss of Gill, Bardo and Liberty, who declared himself eligible for the NBA draft after his junior season, was picked to finish as low as ninth in the Big Ten by some publications. But, junior forward Andy Kaufmann burst onto the scene scoring 660 points, the second largest single-season total in Illinois history. He and the Illini proved the preseason expectations wrong by going 21-10 and finishing third in the Big Ten.

Illinois' consecutive 20-win season streak was snapped in 1992 when the Illini posted its first losing record in 14 years, going 13-15. After sitting out a season, Kaufmann returned for the 1992-93 campaign and helped lead Illinois to a 19-13 record and trip to the NCAA Tournament. The following season, Illinois again advanced to the NCAA Tournament and in the process, senior Deon Thomas broke a 13-year old record and became the school's all-time leading scorer. Thomas scored his record-breaking 1,693rd point in the championship game of the Illini/Pepsi Classic against American University and he went on to finish his career with 2,129 points.

In 1994 a young upstart freshman, Kiwane Garris, would begin his assault on the all-time scoring list. He notched 446 points as a freshman and would be the catalyst on the Illini team over the next few years.

After advancing to the NCAA Tournament in 1995, Illinois extended its run on postseason play with a berth in the 1996 NIT. In 1996, the Illini started the season 11-1 before losing Garris to injury. Without its leader, the Illini dropped its first five Big Ten games. Garris returned, but was never 100 percent and junior forward Jerry Hester missed games with a severely sprained ankle. The Illini finished the 1996 season 18-13 overall, 7-11 in the Big Ten. But more importantly the 1996 season marked the end of the most successful era in Illinois basketball when Lou Henson announced his retirement before the end of the season. In his 21 years at Illinois Henson notched 423 victories and guided the Illini to 11 NCAA Tournament appearances. The Okay, Okla. native coached Illinois to 11, 20-win seasons and finished his career as the third-winningest coach in Big Ten history with 214 league victories.

On March 21, 1996, a new era in Illinois basketball began when Director of Athletics Ron Guenther introduced Lon Kruger as the University's 14th men's basketball coach. Kruger came to Illinois from the University of Florida and carried a list of impressive credentials, including guiding Florida to the Final Four in 1994.

In his first year at Illinois, Kruger guided Illinois to a 22-10 record and the second round of the NCAA Tournament. His 22 wins in 1997 are the most by a coach in his first season at Illinois. Over the course of the season, Illinois defeated five ranked opponents, including No. 7 Minnesota, 96-90, at the Assembly Hall. Illinois also traveled to Bloomington and handed Indiana a 78-74 loss, the first win for Illinois at Assembly Hall in Bloomington since 1990.

During the course of the year, Garriss etched his name in the Illinois record book with one of the best season performances by any Illini player in history. He finished his career second on the all-time scoring list with 1,948 points and set the single-season record for free throws made and attempted. Garriss averaged 19.4 points and missed being the Big Ten's leading scorer by three one-hundredths of a point.

In 1998, Kruger did the unthinkable as he took a team picked to finish seventh in the Big Ten and guided the Illini to a share of its first Big Ten title since 1984. On the way to the league crown, Illinois went 5-0 against Indiana, Iowa, and Michigan for the first time in school history the Illini had gone undefeated against those teams during the course of a season.

Illinois advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament after earning a No. 5 seed in the West Regional. The Illini defense was the Big Ten's best as Illinois finished the year first in scoring defense, field-goal defense and three-point defense in league games.

In October 1998, Illinois moved into a state-of-the-art basketball practice facility, the Richard T. Ubben Basketball Complex. The facility, which houses the coaches offices and practice gym, also features a weight room, training room, video review room, players' lounge and locker rooms.

The Illini closed out the 1999 season with an amazing run at the Big Ten Tournament title. After entering the tournament as the 11th-seeded team, Illinois reeled off three straight victories over Top 25-ranked teams before losing in the championship game to second-ranked Michigan State. Illini freshman Cory Bradford was the Big Ten's Freshman of the Year and was also selected to the All-Tournament team. Bradford set a school record by making 85 three pointers on the season.

For the third time in four seasons under Lon Kruger, Illinois advanced to the NCAA Tournament, this time as a #4 seed. After defeating Penn in the opening round, the Illini season ended with a defeat to eventual national runner-up Florida. The Fighting Illini spent much of the season ranked in the Top 25, climbing as high as No. 15 in late December. An early three-game losing streak in Big Ten play put the Illini in a hole to start league play at 1-3. But, Illinois went on to win 10 of the last 12 league games before finishing second in the Big Ten Tournament. Cory Bradford earned second-team All-Big Ten honors after leading Illinois in scoring and the Big Ten in three-point field goals. He broke his own three-point field goal record by making 96 on the season. Forward Brian Cook was named Co-Freshman of the Year in the league and earned All-Tournament honors with strong play in the Big Ten Tournament.

In May, Kruger left Illinois to become head coach of the NBA's Atlanta Hawks. Another era of Illinois basketball was begun when the University named Bill Self its 15th head men's basketball coach on June 9, 2000. Self came to Illinois from Tulsa where he had led the Golden Hurricane to consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances, including an impressive 32-5 record and tournament run to the regional finals in 2000.

Illinois Wooden Award Nominees

The John Wooden Award, first awarded in 1976, is presented annually to an outstanding basketball player. The award, named after the famous UCLA coach is sponsored by the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

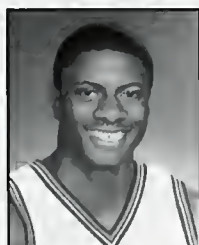

Twelve candidates are selected by the club's National Advisory board, according to the award's criteria, which includes a 2.0 cumulative grade point average. The winner is selected by votes from 1,000 sportscasters and writers from each of the 50 states.

2000-01 Opponents

November 22 November 21 November 20 November 21 November 22

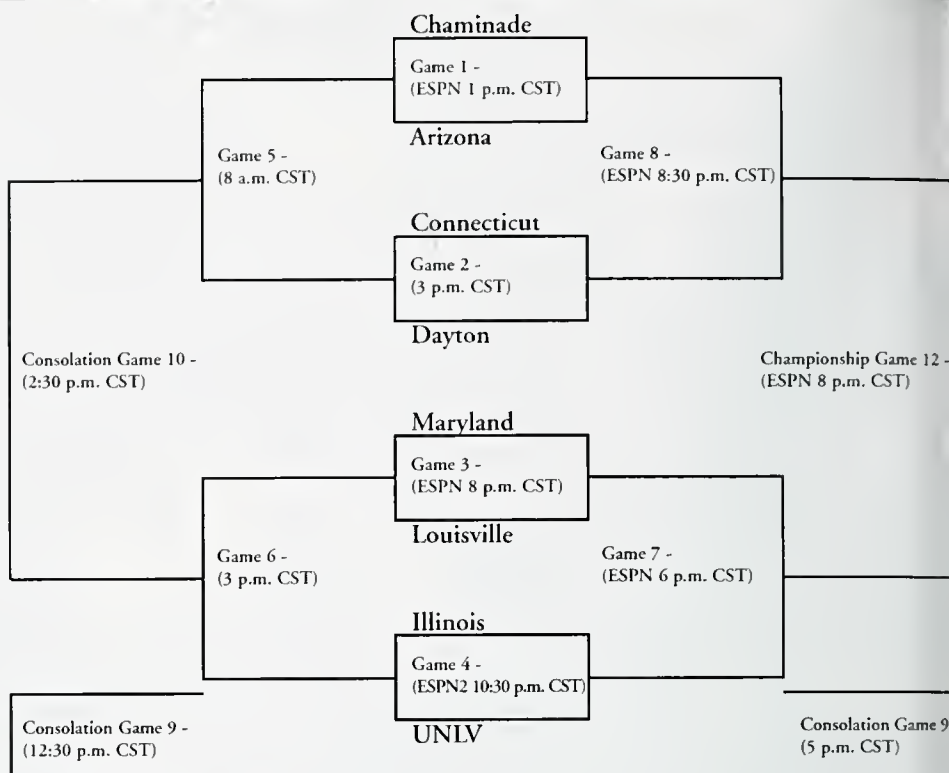

The Maui Invitational Hosted by Chaminade University of Honolulu, college basketball's premier in-season tournament, has finalized its 2000 pairings and television schedule.

Four games will be played each day of the tournament held November 20, 21 and 22, 2000 at the Lahaina Civic Center on the Hawaiian Island of Maui. ESPN and ESPN2 will broadcast live six of the tournament's 12 games again this year.

Now in its 17th edition, the eight-team tourney features the Universities of Arizona, Connecticut, Dayton, Illinois, Louisville and Maryland, as well as UNLV and host school Chaminade University.

All seven mainland schools are coming off appearances in the 2000 NCAA tournament with Arizona likely to be the nation's top-ranked team when the polls come out in November. Illinois and Maryland are probable Top 10 teams, while Connecticut, Dayton and Louisville are potential Top 25 teams.

Past national champions are slotted in each of the tournament's four first-round games, setting up a possible "mini Final Four" in semifinal play. Connecticut (1999 national champion) and Arizona (1997), could match up in one semifinal while UNLV (1990) and two-time champs Louisville (1980 and 1986) could meet in the other bracket.

Members of the Media

The 2000-01 University of Illinois men's basketball media guide is intended as the primary information handbook for media members covering the University of Illinois men's basketball program. This book has been carefully designed to meet your needs in covering Fighting Illini basketball. If you find there is information not contained in this book that would be beneficial to your coverage of Illinois basketball, please let us know and we'll try to incorporate your suggestions into next season's guide.

The University of Illinois Athletic Public Relations Staff is ready to assist you in your coverage of Illini basketball. Feel free to call on myself or any member of the staff! Thanks for your coverage of Illinois sports and . . .

The Big Ten – the nation's most outstanding conference – fields the nation's best in basketball year-in and year-out. Each year the Big Ten is tops in attendance and is among the leaders in number of teams receiving bids to the NCAA Tournament and number of teams ranked in the Top 25 during the season.

Tops In Attendance

For the 24th consecutive year, the Big Ten Conference led all NCAA conferences in home attendance for men's basketball. The league's attendance mark in 1999-2000 (2,255,913) established an NCAA record, breaking the previous record from 1998-99 (2,204,556), also set by the Big Ten. The Big Ten placed eight teams in the Top 20 nationally for home attendance (Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan State, Minnesota, Ohio State, Purdue, Wisconsin).

Postseason Play

Six teams in the NCAA Tournament... Three advance to the Elite Eight... Two advance to the Final Four for the second straight season... Michigan State win the national championship. What a postseason for the Big Ten! In addition to the six teams that earned a spot in the Big Dance, Michigan and Penn State finished their seasons with berths in the NIT.

Since the NCAA Tournament expanded to 64 teams in 1985, the Big Ten has recorded

Big Ten Postseason Basketball Appearances

	Overall	NCAA
Indiana	32	29
Michigan	26	20
Ohio State	26	20
Purdue	25	19
Illinois	23	20
Iowa	21	19
Michigan St.	19	14
Penn State	15	7
Minnesota	15	7
Wisconsin	10	6
Northwestern	3	0

Big Ten Chronology of Membership

- 1895: Chicago, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Northwestern, Purdue, Wisconsin (charter members)
- 1899: Indiana, Iowa joined
- 1908: Michigan withdrew
- 1912: Ohio State joined
- 1918: Michigan rejoined
- 1946: Chicago withdrew
- 1949: Michigan State joined
- 1990: Penn State joined a 136-89 mark, with champions coming in 1987 (Indiana), 1989 (Michigan) and 2000 (Michigan State). Since 1985, the Big Ten has been represented in the Final Four 11 times, including four years with multiple teams advancing to the national semifinals (ILLINOIS and Michigan in 1989, Michigan and Indiana in 1992, Michigan State and Ohio State in 1999, Wisconsin and Michigan State in 2000).

Since the first tournament in 1939, the Big Ten has a 255-150 record and league teams have advanced to the championship game 18 times, with a Big Ten team emerging as the champion 10 times. League schools have accounted for 39 appearances in the Final Four. The Big Ten is the all-time leader with 156 bids to the NCAA Tournament.

On the Television

The tremendous following that Big Ten basketball attracts in stadiums also lends itself to favorable television coverage. For the eighth straight season all 88 intraconference games will be televised. Conference teams will make no fewer than 14 appearances on ESPN, six on espn2 and 10 on CBS. ESPN Regional will televise the remainder of the Big Ten games.

The University of Illinois media guide is your source for information on the Illini basketball program. The Athletic Public Relations staff is here to help you in your coverage of Illinois basketball and don't hesitate to call any member of our staff if you need assistance during the course of the year.

Assembly Hall

All media will enter the arena through the Northeast gate and will park in the Northeast lot, located on the corner of Kirby and Fourth Streets. After you enter the Assembly Hall concourse, turn left to access the media room. We will have phone lines available in the media room where all press can work post-game. There also are two phone lines located on press row, floor level, for media use, but all media are encouraged to work from the press room. After some games the Assembly Hall stage crew will be setting up for another event and the press row area will be taken down immediately following some games.

Before every home game a meal will be provided in the media room 1 1/2 hours prior to tip-off. You also may secure game programs, media guides and pre-game notes in the media room beginning two hours prior to tip-off.

Courtside Photography

All photographers must work from within the designated areas behind the baselines of the playing court. The University of Illinois follows NCAA and Big Ten guidelines regarding event photography. Photo locations are first-come, first-serve, but in the event of heavy demand for photo credentials for a particular game, shooting locations will be assigned.

Strobes—Photographers wishing to use strobe equipment at Illinois home games must notify the Illinois Sports Information staff at least one week in advance of the game for which they are requesting. There is a charge for installation and/or use of such equipment. A maximum of two strobe units may be used for any individual game.

All photographs are to be used in coverage of Illinois basketball and cannot be sold for any commercial enterprise benefiting the photographer.

Credentials

Any member of the media wishing to cover the Fighting Illini this season must request, in writing, credentials from Kent Brown in the Sports Information Office. All requests must be in writing on your company letterhead and be either mailed, emailed or faxed to Kent Brown.

NO credential requests will be accepted over the phone.

Due to limitations in seating numbers, all requests will be prioritized according to published circulation numbers. Be specific when requesting the type of credential needed, either press or photo. Any non-working people in possession of a media credential will be asked to turn over the credential and leave the press area. No children are permitted in the press seating areas. Media agencies that violate this policy will not be issued credentials for future games.

The acceptance of media credentials is an acknowledgment of the University of Illinois' rights to the game and play-by-play coverage and our agreement to abide by any restrictions the UI may place on real-time play-by-play coverage and use of comprehensive game statistics. Failure to abide by these restrictions implemented by the UI may result in revocation of press credentials. The UI reserves the right to grant approval for distribution of real time play-by-play, game-related statistics and information through the internet.

Season requests must be received by November 1.

Single-game requests should be made at least 10 days prior to the date of the game.

Road Game Credentials

Illinois media wishing to cover the Illini on the road should direct their credential request to the sports information director of the host institution. Please see below for credential requests for neutral site games.

Parking

A limited number of media parking passes are available for the 2000-01 men's basketball games at the Assembly Hall. The issuance of passes will be done on a priority basis with media who cover the University of Illinois basketball team on a regular basis holding the highest priority. Requests will then be prioritized according to circulation for newspapers and coverage area for radio and television. A replacement pass WILL NOT BE ISSUED IF THE ORIGINAL IS LOST. To avoid game traffic, media are encouraged to arrive at least 45 minutes prior to tip-off.

Telephones

Charge-a-call lines will be provided in the working press room and on press row. Any individual wishing to order phone lines for the season or for a single game should direct the request to Ameritech (800) 321-8152 during regular business hours. Post-game, all media are asked to utilize the phone lines in the working press room because the press row seating area on the floor will be taken down immediately following several games in preparation for the next event.

Fax-On-Demand

The University of Illinois will again utilize the Info Connection fax-on-demand system service. All media wishing to use this service must set up a pin number through info-connection. If you do not have a PIN, you can obtain one by calling Pivotal Communications at 770-399-0096.

Media are strongly encouraged to use the official Illinois athletics web site -- fightingillini.com -- to access the box score following home games.

Updated Illinois statistics will be available by 10 a.m. Central time the morning after each game, except when traveling by commercial means and in that case the stats will be updated later that day.

The University of Illinois will not be faxing its basketball releases to media personnel. All persons wishing to receive releases, stats, or box scores should register to use the fax-on-demand system or retrieve the information off our web site at www.fightingillini.com. To receive releases via email, contact SID Kent Brown.

To access the fax-on-demand system dial 770-558-6000 from the handset of your fax machine. When prompted, enter your pin number. The Big Ten passcode is 282 and the Illinois document numbers are listed below.

FAX-ON-DEMAND CODES

- 1220 Entire Release (includes notes/stats)
- 1221 Statistics/Game-by-Game Results
- 1222 Roster & Schedule
- 1223 Last Home Game Box Score

Web Sites

Media credentials are issued only for individuals who are affiliated with web sites for national or regional television and news media organizations, e.g. USA Today Online, ESPN SportsZone, CNN/SI, CBS Sportsline, etc., for institutions that are conference members and non-conference opponents, and for the Big Ten Conference. The University of Illinois reserves the right to deny media credentials to any individual whose web site is not affiliated with an official news gathering organization.

Illinois releases, statistics and live radio coverage of the Fighting Illini games are available on the official University of Illinois athletic web site, www.fightingillini.com. In addition to men's basketball, live audio is available on the web for football, women's basketball, volleyball and the coaches' radio show broadcasts.

Basketball Practice

Illinois basketball practices will generally be open to the media, although Coach Self reserves the right to close practices at his discretion. Media interested in attending practice should contact SID Kent Brown to confirm the time and place.

The Illinois basketball team will practice at 3 p.m. in the afternoon on weekdays and practice times on weekends will be listed as TBA. All practices will be held at the Ubben Basketball Practice Facility, except for isolated times when the team will practice at the Assembly Hall. Please note that the locker room area, weight room and training room are off limits to members of the media. In order to avoid congestion on the floor area, media who attend practice are asked to watch from the balcony area on the second floor that overlooks the court.

Interview Policies

All interview requests for Illinois players, Coach Self and members of the Illini coaching staff need to be set up with Kent Brown in the Illinois Sports Information Office. Please give at least 24 hours advance notice for interview requests. On days of scheduled press conferences, players will be available for interviews before practice. Otherwise, Coach Self, assistant coaches and players will be available for interviews following practice. An Illinois player also will be available on Coach Self's teleconferences if class schedules allow.

When the Illini are on the road, Illinois players and coaches will be available for interviews 15 minutes prior to the scheduled practice. After the first 15 minutes of practice, media will be asked to leave the practice site.

Post-game Interviews

The University of Illinois will utilize the media room, located on the mezzanine level on the Northeast side of the Assembly Hall, for post-game interviews. Coaches and players from both teams will be brought to this area for interviews. If you need to interview an Illinois player who has not been requested for the interview room, please make specific arrangements with a member of the Illinois Sports Information staff. The normal schedule will be the opposing coach and selected players first, followed by Illinois players and then Bill Self. Player requests for the visiting team should be made through that school's Basketball SID.

The Bill Self TV Show

This weekly 30-minute television program, hosted by Chris Widlic of WCIA-TV in Champaign, features game highlights and interviews with coaches, players and others involved with the Illinois basketball program. Viewers should consult their local listings for the dates and times of the telecasts.

Bill Self Radio Show

The Bill Self Show is a weekly call-in radio show aired statewide on the Illinois Sports Network. The show is hosted by Illini play-by-play announcer Jim Turpin and airs Monday's from 6:05-7 p.m. beginning on Dec. 4. In addition to the studio shows, the radio show will move to different sorority and fraternity houses on the UI campus.

Former Illini star guard Stephen Bardo (left) will join the broadcast crew providing expert analysis for the Illini Sports Network.

The 50-station Illini Sports Network once again will bring Fighting Illini basketball to fans across the state with Jim Turpin and former Illini great Stephen Bardo calling the action from courtside.

Jim Turpin serves as the play-by-play voice of Illini basketball, a role he has had for most of the past 42 years. A 1961 graduate of the University of Illinois, Turpin has recently retired as general manager of WDWS and WHMS Radio in Champaign. He also will host "Bill Self Live," the network's weekly statewide radio call-in show with the coach of the Illini. Additionally, Turpin serves as co-host of the popular Saturday Morning Sportsline on WDWS/WHMS Radio. Turpin is a past winner of the Illinois Broadcasters Association's Silver Dome Award, given to downstate Illinois' best play-by-play broadcaster.

Former Illini star guard Stephen Bardo will be making his debut as expert analyst for the Illini Sports Network. A 1990 graduate of the UI, Bardo was a mainstay on the Flyin' Illini team that reached the Final Four in 1989. A hard-nosed defensive specialist, Bardo went on to a nine-year professional career that included stops in the NBA, CBA, USBL, Italy, Spain, France, Venezuela and most recently Japan. He has broadcasting experience working with CLTV in Chicago and has prior radio experience calling basketball on the ESPN radio network.

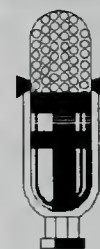

Loren Tate is in his third decade covering Fighting Illini basketball on radio broadcasts. For the 2000-01 season, Tate will conduct pregame, halftime and postgame interviews. Tate is the former executive sports editor of the Champaign-Urbana News-Gazette and in his retirement he still covers the Illini football and basketball teams, writing columns for the paper.

Prior to assuming his position with The News-Gazette, Tate served as sports editor of the Hammond Times for 11 years. A 1953 University of Illinois graduate, Tate's career also includes extensive experience in the electronic media. He was sports director for WICD-TV from 1969-79. Currently, he co-hosts the Saturday Sportsline talk show with Turpin on WDWS/WHMS Radio.

The Illini Sports Network is managed by the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics, including management, distribution, sales operations, affiliate relations and programming. Illini Sports Network programming includes Illinois football, men's and women's basketball, volleyball and baseball, along with the popular "Illini Today" series, and the coaches' live weekly call-in shows. "Bill Self Live" can be heard on Monday nights from 6-7 p.m. beginning Dec. 4.

ISN2 debuted in the fall of 1997, featuring alternative sports programming including "I on the Illini," a weekly 15-minute coaches show featuring all 18 sport programs. ISN2 also features expanded women's basketball and volleyball game coverage.
